Coverup Charged In My Lai Massacre

WASHINGTON (AP) — The alleged massacre of Vietnamese civilians at My Lai was deliberately covered up under an agreement by military and State Department officials in the field, a special House subcommittee has charged.

Reports of atrocities by U.S. soldiers promptly spread through 13 different command levels in the Americal Division, support units and U.S. adviser groups, the subcommittee said in a report released Tuesday. But there is no evidence they ever reached headquarters in Saigon, the report added.

"The subcommittee believes the explanation lies in a concerted action among military and State Department officials to suppress all evidence of the allegation and its investigation," the report said.

"...The subcommittee" the report said, "was unable to determine when, and by whom, that decision was made, and consequently is unable to describe the scope of the agreement."

The report, based on still-secret testimony by 152 witnesses, was released by a special four-man House armed services investigating subcommittee headed by Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La.

Other principal findings of the investigation into the Task Force Barker sweep against the suspected Viet Cong stronghold at My Lai March 16, 1968:

—Helicopter Pilot Hugh C. Thompson testified that when he landed to rescue Vietnamese civilians from a bunker, a lieutenant in charge of GIs standing over bodies in a ditch told him "The only way I could get them out is with a hand grenade or something of that order." But Thompson denied having helicopter guns trained on GIs during the rescue.

—Acts by individual GIs were so wrong and uncharacteristic "as to immediately raise a question as to the legal sanity at the time of those men involved."

—The Uniform Code of Military Justice should be revised to prohibit court-martial for such acts in combat until the accused man's mental responsibility at the time has been determined.

—The sole written record of a field investigation—concluding only 20 Vietnamese civilians were killed in artillery, helicopter gunship and ground cross-fire and that none were rounded up by GIs and killed—was found hidden in a sergeant's desk drawer. If other documents ever existed, they have disappeared from the files.

—An order by Capt. Ernest L.

Medina, commander of the company that made the main My Lai sweep, to return to count civilian dead was countermanded by Maj. Gen. Samuel W. Koster, then Americal Division commander, from a helicopter flying overhead. Koster said Medina's estimate of 28 dead sounded about right.

—U.S. intelligence dismissed allegations of up to 570 civilian deaths in My Lai and nearby areas as "Communist propaganda" even though most of the allegations were coming from South Vietnamese officials and detailed time, place and U.S. units involved.

Hebert's subcommittee drew no conclusions on what actually happened at My Lai and made no reference to criminal charges against 12 GIs, including Medina and platoon leader Lt. William L. Calley Jr. The charges range from officer responsibility for the deaths to murder, rape and maiming.

The initial field inquiry was as much concerned with reports of a "machine gun confrontation" between helicopter pilot Thompson and an unnamed platoon leader, one officer testified, as with Thompson's report of civilian killings.

Thompson denied ordering guns trained on the GIs or believing he was threatened by them, the report said, even though he said the platoon leader had told him the only way to get civilians out of a bunker to rescue them was with a hand grenade.

Dean Of City Council Members Dies At Age 74

Boyd Horn, dean of Circleville City Council members, died 7:45 a.m. today in Berger Hospital.

Mr. Horn, 74, of 225 Walnut St., had been a patient there since June 25 when he suffered a heart attack.

BOYD HORN

A familiar face in city politics, the veteran legislator was first elected to a council seat in 1941 and served continuously until 1965. He was defeated in the 1965 primary election but ran again two years later and won his seat back. He was re-elected in the 1969 primary.

Mr. Horn, because of his negative stand on all hastily drafted legislation and on legislation which he felt would be a burden to the taxpayer, was sometimes referred to as the "great dissenter."

DURING his long tenure of service to the city and to the fourth ward, he was seldom absent from an official session of council.

In addition to his political activities, Mr. Horn operated a greenhouse at his home on Walnut Street and a gift shop on N. Court Street.

Mr. Horn lived in the city's fourth ward since 1917. He was an employee of the now defunct Sears Nichols Canning Company for 32 years and also worked for the H. M. Crites, Ladoga and Winorr Canneries.

Born Aug. 14, 1895 in Tarlton, he was the son of William and Alma Lama Horn.

He is survived by his widow, Cleo Dumm Horn, whom he married in 1912; five grandchildren, Lee Hutsler, Lockbourne; John Horn, Kansas City, Mo.; Bruce Horn, Colo.; Bob Horn, stationed with the U.S. Air Force in Germany; Eric Horn, Michigan; one sister, Mrs. Chloe Brown, Kingston. He was preceded in death by two sons, Gerald and Boyd W. Horn.

Funeral services will be 10:30 a.m. Saturday in Defenbaugh Funeral Home with Pastor Carl Zehner officiating. Burial will be in Forest Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home beginning 7 p.m. Thursday.

Roundtown

A REPORT from Guy Cline Jr. on the People to People European tour was received by The Herald today.

Cline is one of seven young Pickaway County youths on the tour which is under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Bush of Williamsport.

The seven youngsters have been in Holland and Switzerland and Cline told of their activities in the two countries.

AT least temporary relief is expected from the hot, humid weather... The Roundtown weather observer has forecast showers and thundershowers (some heavy) during the night lowering temperatures to a more comfortable 60-65 degrees... Milder thermometer readings will continue Thursday, locally, with a high of 80-85 degrees forecast.

THE years add up for John Shelton, 1318 S. Pickaway St. ... He will celebrate his 92nd birthday Monday at Circleville Home and Hospital E. Mound St., where he is now residing.

USW Net Worth Dips $3 Million

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The United Steelworkers Union's net worth declined $3 million as of Dec. 31, 1969, an audit shows.

The figures, made public Tuesday by Main LaFrenz Co., certified accountants, put the USW net worth at $47,031,048 as of that date. On June 30, 1969, the figure was $50,191,821.

The 1.2 million-member union also was reported to have spent $12 million from its Strike and Defense Fund during the last six months of 1969, causing a net decline of about $6 million in the fund. But a $3 million increase in the union's general funds offset the decline.

Campus Unrest To Continue To War's End

WASHINGTON (AP) — A presidential commission aimed at pacifying the nation's campuses was told today it will not succeed until the Vietnam war is ended.

"It may well be," said Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, "that the only line in the commission's report that will have any real meaning for our colleges and universities is the line that reads: 'This war must end.'"

The Massachusetts Democrat and Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott were among the six witnesses called at the opening hearing of the Presidents' Commission on Campus Unrest.

The others: San Francisco State President S. I. Hayakawa, University of Michigan President Robben Fleming, National Student Association President Charles Palmer and Otis Cochran, president of the Black American Law Student Union.

Scott declared in prepared testimony, "We must retreat from demagoguery in all its oratorical fulmination. It is time to show each other our humanity, our human goodness."

"Student awareness does this generation credit, as does their idealism. Their anger at the system, the establishment, is evidence of this awareness," he said.

The commission, headed by former Republican Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, was named a month ago by President Nixon in the wake of campus uprisings which followed the U.S. move into Cambodia.

Spurred especially by the shooting deaths of four students at Kent State University in Ohio and two youths at Jackson State College in Mississippi, Nixon asked the panel for full recommendations by Oct. 1.

Senate OKs Birth Control Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Without debate or dissent, the Senate has passed and sent to the House a bill to set up a federal birth-control assistance program to make family-planning services and information available to all Americans who want them.

The five-year birth-control assistance and research program is expected to cost $1 billion and will be administered by a new Office of Population Affairs under the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The measure was approved Tuesday by the Senate.

President Nixon has declared family-planning services should be available to all Americans who want but cannot afford them.

An estimated 5.4 million American women are unable to afford these services, the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee said.

The services will be made available only on a voluntary basis, the committee added.

Agnew Can't Attend Governors' Meeting

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew will not be able to attend the Midwestern Governors' Conference here next week, his Washington office reported Tuesday.

The conference will open Sunday and extend through Wednesday, with Gov. James A. Rhodes as host.

Solon Sees Guerrilla War In U.S. South Viets Open New Campaign

SAIGON (AP) — Nearly 5,000 South Vietnamese troops launched a major new sweep today, seeking to destroy North Vietnamese base camps in rugged jungle country west of Da Nang.

Kicking off one of the biggest operations in months in the northern provinces, waves of U.S. Marine helicopters landed the assault troops and their American advisers shortly after daylight in an area 25 to 40 miles east of the Laotian frontier. No major allied operations have taken place there in years.

Only light contact was reported in the early hours of the operation.

The attack force included three battalions of South Vietnamese marines recently withdrawn from Cambodia and two battalions of Vietnamese special forces troops, the mercenaries paid by the United States and trained and led by U.S. Green Berets.

Their primary targets were two North Vietnamese base areas west and southwest of Thuong Duc. It is the site of a Special Forces camp which was under sporadic rocket and mortar fire until about two weeks ago.

Col. Nguyen Van Thien, the commander of the operation, said his force was taking advantage of good weather to spoil potential enemy buildups for large ground attacks such as they have almost always made in August.

South Vietnamese officers also took the wraps off another operation, a three-battalion push that began Sunday west of Hiep Duc, which is 35 miles south of Da Nang. A district town, Hiep Duc has been attacked repeatedly since the first of the year and during May was partially occupied for five days by North Vietnamese troops.

No contact with the enemy was reported in this operation.

Spokesmen in Saigon reported that enemy activity across the country was the lightest in several months.

South Korea Lists Arms Needs Before U.S. Cutback

SEOUL (AP) — Air defense items head the list of what South Korea's armed forces need to get from the United States before a third of the U.S. troops in the country can be withdrawn, Defense Minister Chung Nae-hyuk said in an interview today.

Chung said he would present the list of needed items to Deputy Defense Secretary David Packard at a meeting in Honolulu July 21.

He also said he would ask for equipment needed to ward off submarine infiltrations.

Chung did not estimate the cost of the military buildup nor the length of time it would require, but he is expected to ask for assurances of modernization to compensate for the planned withdrawal of some 20,000 of the 60,000 American troops stationed in South Korea.

In general, Chung said, South Korea seeks three types of military modernization—more firepower, better mobility and improved communications.

Like other members of the South Korean government, the defense chief reacted strongly against the U.S. troop reduction.

He said it was "very unfortunate under the circumstances to apply the Nixon Doctrine... It is certainly not the suitable time to implement it."

After the seizure of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo in 1968, the United States provided about $100 million in additional assistance for the South Korean armed forces. This included a squadron of 18 Phantom jet aircraft.

Those were "not satisfactory to cope with the Communist air force in the North," Chung said.

He estimated that South Korea has about one-third the capability of the North Korean air force. Of 900 North Korean planes, more than half are supersonic jets, including four squadrons of MIG21s, he said.

The gap between the North Korean and South Korean air forces has been filled by reinforcements of U.S. aircraft since the Pueblo incident, the defense chief stated.

"But because of budgetary reasons," he added, "the number of U.S. Air Force planes here has declined."

Chung said the Honolulu meeting with Packard would be the third annual meeting of defense officials of the two countries.

"We will renew our feeling of close ties," he said, "and at the same time I am going to present to Mr. Packard our need of strengthening and modernizing the ROK forces to cope with North Korean forces."

There is danger, Chung warned, that North Korea's leaders would have the illusion that determination as well as armed might in South Korea was being weakened with the reduction of U.S. forces.

"We want our forces at least to make a balance with the Communist forces," he said.

"So that North Korea cannot dream of unification of our country by force."

South Korea Lists Arms Needs Before U.S. Cutback

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan, opening hearings into the 5,000 bombings reported across the nation in the past 18 months, says the violence may mark the beginning of domestic guerrilla action.

"These are criminal acts," the Arkansas Democrat said in an interview. "But they are not crimes for profit. These are crimes committed out of an attitude of rebellion against society and against all constituted authority."

"They are intended to instill terror into the people and the community. And they have reached proportions requiring us to put the pattern together, to learn if they are connected to detect an organized conspiracy, and to learn if additional laws will be helpful to stop this wave of senseless violence."

Since Jan. 1, 1969, McClellan's investigators said, there have been more than 1,000 bombing cases involving the use of high explosives and more than 4,000 involving incendiary devices, an average of more than nine bomb incidents a day.

The result, they said, has been up to 40 deaths, about 300 injuries and more than $23 million in property damage.

Committee sources said the recent bombings appear to be the work of white and black extremists, anti-Semites and labor racketeers.

They said their statistics also indicate the report to the bomb as a political-social terror tool has been largely a premeditated act apparently perpetrated by so-called revolutionary youths.

McClellan said testimony during the hearings will reveal "a measure of guerrilla warfare is being conducted by terrorists across the entire nation."

In the past 18 months, explosions have ripped office buildings in New York City, ROTC buildings on university campuses, the offices of foreign nations in New York and Washington, synagogues and churches, and school buses.

NEW YORK (AP) — A bomb exploded in front of a branch of the Chase Manhattan Bank in the East Village early today, shattering its glass doors and breaking nearby windows.

There were no injuries.

The bomb, which police said was made in a pipe and had a clock timing device, went off at 2:33 a.m. outside the bank at 599 Broadway, near West Houston Street.

There have been a number of bombings and attempted bombings of corporate offices, police and other public facilities in the past year in New York City.

Women's Strike Not Supported

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor has denied it is endorsing the idea of a one-day strike for women Aug. 26.

An Associated Press story said Tuesday the bureau was among organizations backing the strike designed to dramatize goals of the women's liberation movement.

Director Elizabeth D. Koonz said that while her bureau is not supporting the strike call, "should individual employees wish to be absent on Aug. 26, the usual official leave policy of the federal government would apply."

Britain Facing Dock Walkout

LONDON (AP) — Representatives of Britain's 47,000 longshoremen rejected a pay raise offer today and set the stage for the first complete shutdown of the nation's docks in 44 years.

The vote against the management offer was 48-32.

More than half of Britain's dockers were on strike before the vote was taken. Some were still at work as the vote was announced.

Terms of the offer have not been made public but it was believed to include a proposal for an extra $2.40 a week for each dockworker.

A spokesman for the Port of London Authority said the decision would mean "total stoppage" at the docks.

Red Ink Bill Unpaid

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The list of creditors demanding millions of dollars in payments from the embattled Penn Central Railroad includes a stationery firm that claims it hasn't been paid for a batch of red ink.

With the backing of influential House leaders, proponents of the proposal said chances for success are good.

The antisecrecy proposal was one of scores under consideration on a bulky congressional reorganization bill affecting both the House and the Senate.

The bill was laid aside temporarily today so the House could consider compromise versions of three other measures.

It may not be passed until next week.

Advocates of more far-reaching reforms than those provided in the pending measure won two battles Tuesday and lost one.

They lost on an amendment to require committee meetings to be open unless a panel decided against it publicly at each session. The vote, a nonrecord one, was 132 to 112.

An amendment to ban proxy voting in committees was approved 71-54 and a requirement that roll-call votes of individual members in committees be made available to the public was adopted by voice vote.

Enter Pleas In Conspiracy

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Pleas to charges involving an alleged white-slavery operation were entered in U. S. District Court here Tuesday by three Dayton men, one a suspended policeman.

Robert Wax, 27, of Kettering, pleaded guilty to two conspiracy counts and further action in his case was withheld pending a pre-sentence report.

The suspended patrolmen, Louis Edward Leonard, 27, and Silas Eugene Taylor, 35, both of Kettering, entered innocent pleas and their trial was set for Sept. 9. Leonard is charged with one count of conspiracy and five counts of aiding racketeering. Taylor has been charged with two counts of conspiracy, 12 for aiding racketeering and eight for white slavery.

A total of 19 counts were filed against Wax, but only two were listed in the court appearance Tuesday.

FBI agents arrested the trio last week.

Campus Unrest To Continue To War's End

WASHINGTON (AP) — A presidential commission aimed at pacifying the nation's campuses was told today it will not succeed until the Vietnam war is ended.

"It may well be," said Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, "that the only line in the commission's report that will have any real meaning for our colleges and universities is the line that reads: 'This war must end.'"

The Massachusetts Democrat and Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott were among the six witnesses called at the opening hearing of the Presidents' Commission on Campus Unrest.

Scott declared in prepared testimony, "We must retreat from demagoguery in all its oratorical fulmination. It is time to show each other our humanity, our human goodness."

"Student awareness does this generation credit, as does their idealism. Their anger at the system, the establishment, is evidence of this awareness," he said.

The commission, headed by former Republican Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, was named a month ago by President Nixon in the wake of campus uprisings which followed the U.S. move into Cambodia.

Spurred especially by the shooting deaths of four students at Kent State University in Ohio and two youths at Jackson State College in Mississippi, Nixon asked the panel for full recommendations by Oct. 1.

Senate OKs Birth Control Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Without debate or dissent, the Senate has passed and sent to the House a bill to set up a federal birth-control assistance program to make family-planning services and information available to all Americans who want them.

The five-year birth-control assistance and research program is expected to cost $1 billion and will be administered by a new Office of Population Affairs under the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The measure was approved Tuesday by the Senate.

President Nixon has declared family-planning services should be available to all Americans who want but cannot afford them.

An estimated 5.4 million American women are unable to afford these services, the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee said.

The services will be made available only on a voluntary basis, the committee added.

Auto Union And Industry Open Talks

DETROIT (AP) — Wage contract bargaining between the United Auto Workers union and major industry leaders opens today and the outcome is likely to have a bearing on the prices of 1971 model cars.

Both union and industry sources have said there probably will be a strike, although the auto firms and the union have vowed they don't want one.

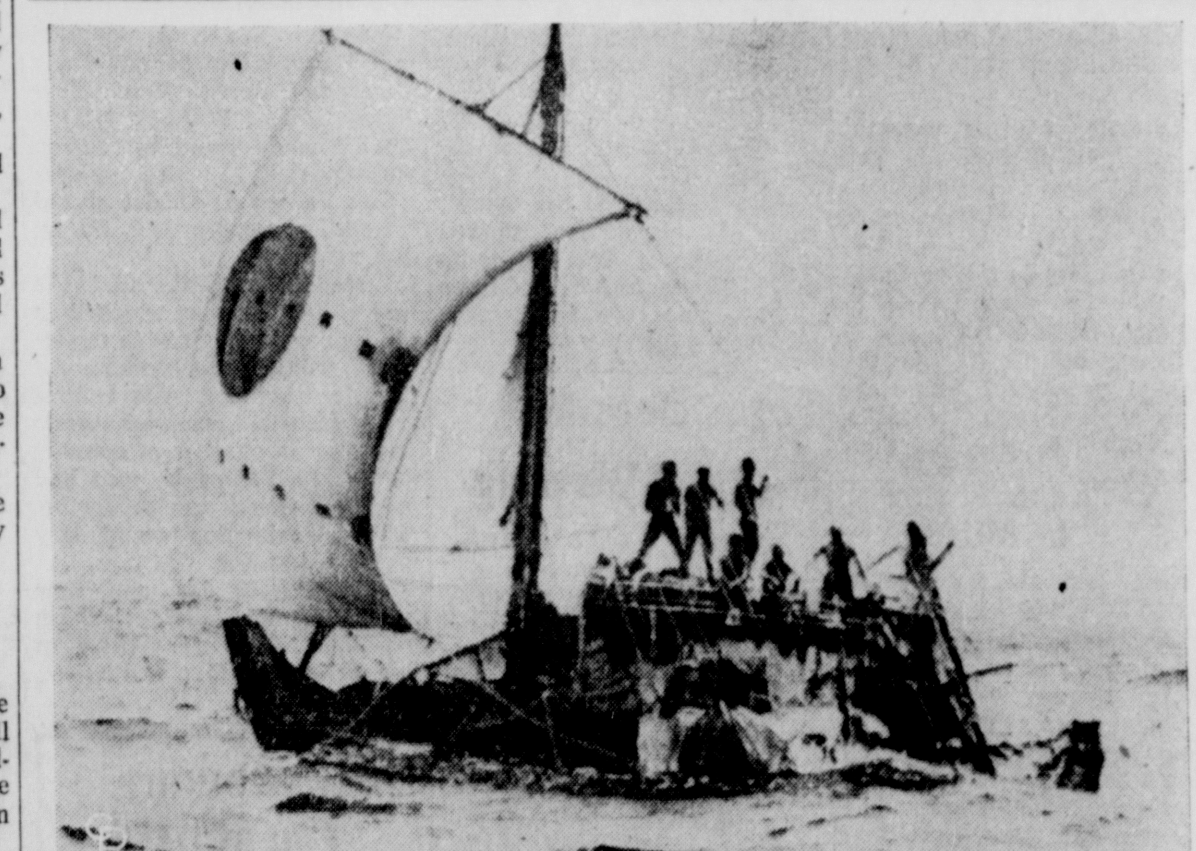

The UAW and General Motors Corp. start the initial negotiations at a forenoon session, followed by talks with Ford Motor Co. Thursday and Chrysler Corp. Friday.

In a statement issued as the session convened, Earl Bramblett, GM vice president in charge of personnel, urged that "serious bargaining begin immediately."

Frequently in past negotiations little progress has been made until the old contracts were on the verge of expiration.

The current three-year contracts covering some 720,000 workers at Big Three plants throughout the country expire at midnight Sept. 14.

Over previous years bargaining over local issues at various plants has erupted into crippling strikes, some after national agreements had been reached.

He said it was "very unfortunate under the circumstances to apply the Nixon Doctrine. It is certainly not the suitable time to implement it."

After the seizure of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo in 1968, the United States provided about $100 million in additional assistance for the South Korean armed forces. This included a squadron of 18 Phantom jet aircraft.

Those were "not satisfactory to cope with the Communist air force in the North," Chung said. He estimated that South Korea has about one-third the ca-commander of the operation, said his force was taking advantage of good weather to spoil potential enemy buildups for large ground attacks such as they have almost always made in August.

South Vietnamese officers also took the wraps off another operation, a three-battalion push that began Sunday west of Hiep Duc, which is 35 miles south of Da Nang. A district town, Hiep Duc has been attacked repeatedly since the first of the year and during May was partially occupied for five days by North Vietnamese troops.

No contact with the enemy was reported in this operation.

Spokesmen in Saigon reported that enemy activity across the country was the lightest in several months.

"We will renew our feeling of close ties," he said, "and at the same time I am going to present to Mr. Packard our need of strengthening and modernizing the ROK forces to cope with North Korean forces."

There is danger, Chung warned, that North Korea's leaders would have the illusion that termination as well as armed might in South Korea was being weakened with the reduction of U.S. forces.

"We want our forces at least to make a balance with the Communist forces," he said. "So that North Korea cannot dream of unification of our country by force."

'Nameless Voting' Practice Target Of Reform Solons

WASHINGTON (AP) — After losing a fight to restrict secret committee sessions, supporters of congressional reform legislation hoped today to fare better in their fight to abolish the practice of nameless voting.

The reformers want each member's vote to be recorded publicly when the House acts on amendments to major bills. Existing rules permit a head count only and names are not recorded.

With the backing of influential House leaders, proponents of the proposal said chances for success are good.

The anticsecrecy proposal was one of scores under consideration on a bulky congressional reorganization bill affecting both the House and the Senate.

The bill was laid aside temporarily today so the House could consider compromise versions of three other measures.

It may not be passed until next week.

Advocates of more far-reaching reforms than those provided in the pending measure won two battles Tuesday and lost one.

They lost on an amendment to require committee meetings to be open unless a panel decided against it publicly at each session. The vote, a nonrecord one, was 132 to 112.

An amendment to ban proxy voting in committees was approved 71-54 and a requirement that roll-call votes of individual members in committees be made available to the public was adopted by voice vote.

NEW YORK (AP) — A bomb exploded in front of a branch of the Chase Manhattan Bank in the East Village early today, shattering its glass doors and breaking nearby windows. There were no injuries.

The bomb, which police said was made in a pipe and had a clock timing device, went off at 2:33 a.m. outside the bank at 509 Broadway, near West Houston Street.

There have been a number of bombings and attempted bombings of corporate offices, police and other public facilities in the past year in New York City.

Women's Strike Not Supported

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor has denied it is endorsing the idea of a one-day strike for women Aug. 26.

An Associated Press story said Tuesday the bureau was among organizations backing the strike designed to dramatize goals of the women's liberation movement.

Director Elizabeth D. Koontz said that while her bureau is not supporting the strike call, "should individual employees wish to be absent on Aug. 26, the usual official leave policy of the federal government would apply."

Britain Facing Dock Walkout

LONDON (AP) — Representatives of Britain's 47,000 longshoremen rejected a pay raise offer today and set the stage for the first complete shutdown of the nation's docks in 44 years.

The vote against the management offer was 48-32.

More than half of Britain's dockers were on strike before the vote was taken. Some were still at work as the vote was announced.

Terms of the offer have not been made public but it was believed to include a proposal for an extra $2.40 a week for each docker.

A spokesman for the Port of London Authority said the decision would mean "total stoppage" at the docks.

Mitchell To Defend Voting Law Despite Misgivings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell has pledged to defend the 18-year-old voting bill despite President Nixon's serious misgivings about its constitutionality.

"Any good lawyer can take any side of a case and argue it with equal ability," he said Tuesday at his first Washington press conference in a year.

President Nixon signed the bill into law, but said he preferred to lower the voting age by constitutional amendment.

The attorney general said the 5 states have been asked to submit by Aug. 3 their plans for complying with the new law.

The 18-year-old age provision of the Voting Rights Act does not take effect until Jan. 1, 1971. Two other key provisions, banning literacy tests and dropping residency requirements for balloting in presidential elections, became law when Nixon signed the bill June 22.

"If we do not receive a positive response by Aug. 3, we will assume that the state does not intend to comply fully with the new federal statute and we, of course, will move accordingly," Mitchell said.

Such action would take the form of lawsuits filed before three-judge panels at the U.S. District Court level and proceed up through the Supreme Court, he said.

"We believe that certainly the 18-year-old voting requirement and possibly the literacy test and residency requirements will be determined only by a Supreme Court test," Mitchell said.

On other topics during the hour-long session, first with reporters in the nation's capital in a year, the attorney general said:

—The number of wiretaps in use by the government in cases other than national security has doubled from 33 last year to about 66, most of them in investigations of organized crime and narcotics traffic.

—His recent speeches urging authorities to encourage peaceful dissent were prompted by the "recognition that what we have been saying in the Department of Justice and other parts of the government have not been getting through to the students on the campuses." He contended the position marks no change in administration policy.

—He is disturbed by the unenthusiastic response of the black community to Nixon administration policies. But he contended charges of anti-Negro bias are "a lot of loose talk."

—By the end of the coming school year, "not only will the school districts in the South have converted from the dual school system to the unitary school system, but most of the irritants that were brought about by these conversions will be behind us and desegregation will be accepted as a way of life and the process of education can go on the way it should."

Local Police Investigate 3 Incidents

Circleville Police investigated a possible case of grand larceny at Palm's Carryout, 455 E. Main St., at 11:04 p.m. Thursday.

According to a report, an employee at the carryout had taken $986 out to his car for deposit and then had stopped to talk to another employee. After he had returned to his car the money was gone.

The incident is still under investigation.

Local police also investigated an attempted breaking and entering at the VFW Club, 217 N. Court St., during the night. No entry was made.

Mrs. Freda Hulse, 129 W. Main St., reported to police that two men had short changed a clerk at the House Of Fabrics Friday afternoon.

One of the men paid for a two dollar purchase with a $50 bill, then paid for the same item with two $1 bills that he borrowed from his accomplice and asked for his $50 back.

The first man then bought a $20 item and substituted a $20 bill for the $50 and got $30 in change.

Local police are still looking for the two men.

Windshield Broken

Someone threw a rock through the windshield of a car belonging to Wallace Hatfield of Orient Tuesday.

He told Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Bob Hoover the auto was parked in front of his house when the incident happened.

Travelers Not Stopped By Fire

A 1963 model car was left to burn on Route 23 early this morning and its passengers continued on their way by the hospitality of a passing motorist without making an attempt to save the vehicle.

Officers of the county sheriff department, city police and fire department were at the scene about 2 a.m. Wednesday just north of the Island Road overpass. The fire was started when the right rear tire blew due to trouble in the wheel bearings. Heat ignited gasoline in the tank, totally destroying the car. Loss was estimated at $100. Members of the city police force were on hand to direct traffic around the area.

Witnesses reported that the right rear tire of the auto blew and the driver and owner of the vehicle, Melvin D. Martin of Detroit, Mich., pulled to the berm. Martin, 41 and the other four passengers, Ann Weelman, 38, and her three children, aged 12, 9 and 7, got out of the car collecting their bundles and packages. They were picked up by a passing motorist. Local authorities contacted the Ross County sheriff's office who discovered the travelers waiting in the bus station there. They were returned to the Pickaway County law enforcement agency.

Martin told investigating officer Deputy John Bost that he was headed for Jackson, W. Va.

Preston Foster Dies At 69

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — Preston Foster, whose lengthy acting career took him through more than 120 movies as a fist-swinging hero or villain, is dead at 69.

The dark-haired, mustachioed actor starred as Capt. John Herick, a tugboat skipper, in the television series "Waterfront," for 78 installments starting in 1954. He made more than 100 films for television.

His death Tuesday at Scripps Memorial Hospital was preceded by a long illness.

The 200-pound, 6-foot-2 actor made his last movie, "Chubasco," for Warner Bros. in 1967.

Foster worked as a paymaster, shipping clerk, bus driver and advertising salesman and professional wrestler before his first appearance on stage carrying a spear with the Philadelphia Grand Opera. He quickly moved up to singing bass parts in "Carmen," "Otello" and "Rigoletto."

He switched to the Broadway stage, where movie producer-director Mervyn LeRoy saw him in the 1931 play "Two Seconds" and persuaded him to try Hollywood. Foster's first film role was in the 1932 movie version of the same play, retitled, "The Last Mile," opposite Edward G. Robinson.

Reported Plane Crash Apparently Prankster Hoax

A call for help at 1:25 a.m. Wednesday sent the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department and Ohio Highway Patrol on a three hour search for a supposedly downed airplane.

Receiving a report that an aircraft had crashed south of S. Bloomfield along the Scioto River. Both law enforcement agencies dispatched units to the area but failed to locate the aircraft.

The caller kept in constant contact with the officers and reported there had been injuries and medical attention was needed.

The search was finally called off after they were unable to find any evidence of a crash.

Officers believe it was the work of pranksters who were in an automobile and using a walkie-talkie to carry out their chicanery.

Nixon Likes Appalachia Proposal

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Appalachian governors urged President Nixon to adopt a new regional concept of funneling federal money to the states, a proposal they say will boost his chances of getting his revenue-sharing plan through Congress.

Nixon was reported impressed with the governors' plan during a private three-hour conference Tuesday, but made no commitment.

He indicated the governors told Nixon that adopting their plan would remove some of the congressional opposition.

"In revenue-sharing, there is a question of who is going to get the funds—the city, the town or the counties," Brewer said. "In the Appalachian program, there is none of that bickering."

Nixon, who capped off his day by attending major league baseball's All-Star Game at Cincinnati, told the governors he wanted to hear their views to break his administration out of what he called "the isolation booth" in Washington.

He said too often bureaucrats in the capital operate in the "rarefied atmosphere of the cabinet room" without knowing

Gov. Albert Brewer of Alabama, co-chairman of the Appalachian Regional Commission, said the regional approach would complement Nixon's revenue sharing proposals now tied up in the House Ways and Means Committee.

He indicated the governors told Nixon that adopting their plan would remove some of the congressional opposition.

Striking Garbage Collectors To Return In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Striking garbage collectors are expected to be back on Cleveland streets today picking up trash that has accumulated during the past eight days.

The end of the unauthorized work stoppage was announced Tuesday night by Joseph Farinacci, secretary - treasurer of Municipal Foreman and Laborers Union Local 1069.

Declaring that union and city negotiators were close to agreement, Farinacci said he was asking the 1,000 garbage collectors who have been calling in sick to report for work.

As he has throughout the work stoppage, Farinacci continued to insist that the men were sick not on strike, and said he would tell the men to get back to work "if they are physically able."

Details of negotiations were not disclose, and neither union nor city officials would say what improvements, if any, were made in the city offer last week of a 47-cent hourly pay raise.

The trash collectors had demanded a $1.03 boost in their present pay scale of $3.30 an hour.

Announcement that the collectors would return came just a few hours before expiration of no-strike promises that had been given by six of the 14 unions representing city workers. City officials had predicted that some sort of agreement would be reached before the midnight Tuesday deadline in an effort to keep other unions from walking out.

Family Can't Turn Off Money Flow

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — How do you stop welfare checks from coming?

That's the problem troubling Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. McClelland and their seven children, who asked for welfare help during the prolonged Teamsters walkout earlier this year and kept on getting checks after McClelland went back to work in May.

The first check was for $152, and McClelland promptly sent it back.

After getting a $415 check in June, Mrs. McClelland spent three days trying to find the proper person to talk to in the Cuyahoga County Welfare Department before getting someone to come out and pick up the check. The official promised it wouldn't happen again.

This week the McClellands got another $415 check.

"I appreciate them thinking about us, but I don't want it any more," said Mrs. McClelland.

"I'm a taxpayer too," said her husband, "and I don't want my money wasted."

Extradition Delay Asked

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A motion for a continuance was expected to be made today in a court hearing on the extradition to Pennsylvania of Claude E. Vealey, who is charged with first-degree murder in the slaying of United Mine Workers leader Joseph A. Yablonski, his wife and daughter.

Attorney Elmer A. Giuliani said Tuesday that he would ask Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Judge Leo M. Spelacy for the "what grounds would be used in the appeal."

Gov. James A. Rhodes signed extradition papers last Thursday.

Vealey, 26, of Cleveland, is the first of five persons charged in the Yablonski slayings to undergo extradition proceedings. All five were indicted by a federal grand jury in Cleveland earlier this year on charges of conspiring to kill Yablonski, who had been scheduled to testify before a Washington grand jury investigating the UMW.

Yablonski, 59, his wife Margaret, 57, and daughter, Charlotte Joanne, 25, were killed on Dec. 31 in their Clarksville, Pa., home.

While damage estimates were not available, property loss was expected to be high. The derailment destroyed a double-track bridge over Carr's Run as well as badly damaging a number of freight cars.

The train was en route from Russell, Ky., to Columbus at the time of the derailment. Until the track is cleared trains are being rerouted over tracks of the Norfolk and Western Railroad.

how officials throughout the country feel.

The Appalachian governors wanted Nixon to expand the concept behind their five-year-old regional commission into a nationwide network of similar agencies.

Brewer said the key advantage of the Appalachian program is its emphasis on planning and setting priorities, forcing local governments to band together to seek federal funds.

Nixon put in plugs for both his revenue-sharing and family assistance programs at the session with the governors.

Presidential adviser Patrick Moynihan said Nixon told the governors he regards the family assistance plan as the most important single piece of legislation in two generations.

Moynihan urged the governors to contact senators and congressmen in their areas who have expressed opposition to both proposals. The governors already have endorsed family assistance and revenue-sharing.

Insufficient Funds Case Brings Fine

In Municipal Court action, Chauncy Richards was found guilty by Judge Sterling M. Lamb of issuing a check for $175.26 to Bill Gaines Auto Repair with insufficient funds.

Richards, Wilson Trailer Court, 29, Pickaway St., was fined $50 plus court costs and was told to make restitution for the bad check.

In other action, Robert Keaton, 29, 408 W. High St., was fined $25 plus costs for operation of an unsafe vehicle. He had two cases continued including resisting arrest and reckless operation of a motor vehicle. He is under $280 bond.

Fred Brungs, Circleville, was fined $25 plus costs for public intoxication.

Terry L. Metty, 27, Route 1, Williamsport, forfeited a $24 bond for speeding 75 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Rule Suicide In Hanging

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A coroner's ruling of suicide has been returned in the death of a militant black student leader found hanging in his cell in Cleveland City Jail early Tuesday.

Frank Goolsby, 31, a former Cuyahoga Community College student, was found hanging from cell bars by a black belt a few hours after he was arrested for intoxication near his West Seventh Street residence.

Police said Goolsby originally was placed in a cell with other prisoners awaiting court appearances for drunkenness but that each of the prisoners was moved to a separate cell after Goolsby created a disturbance with "racist talk."

Goolsby, known as Juba Chibembi on campus, was a leader in the Black Liberation Front at CCC. A college official said he was expelled earlier this year because of involvement in several disturbances.

He was charged with disorderly conduct in connection with a February disturbance and his case was pending in Municipal Court.

Storm Sweeps Garfield Heights

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Mayor Raymond A. Stachewicz estimated today that an early morning storm which swept through suburban Garfield Heights caused $250,000 damage.

The storm knocked down power lines, poles and trees and partially removed the roof of an apartment building. Stachewicz said the building had to be evacuated and estimated damage to it at $50,000. No injuries were reported.

The storm was one of several which passed through the Cleveland area during the night.

eral months, with the only sharp fighting involving U.S. forces. In four contacts, one American and 20 of the enemy were killed, and 13 Americans were wounded, the U.S. Command said.

South Vietnamese forces in Cambodia reported killing 27 enemy troops in a series of clashes northeast of Krok, a rubber plantation center along the border in the Fishhook area 70 miles northeast of Phnom Penh.

While the Cambodian government in Phnom Penh was claiming that its forces had retaken most of Kiri Rom, the mountain resort 50 miles west of Phnom Penh, Associated Press correspondent John T. Wheeler reported from the battle zone that the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces that overran the mountaintop Saturday had savagely mauled government forces trying to retake the resort and had sent two battalions of troops reeling back down the mountainside.

One commander told Wheeler the Communist forces struck Tuesday afternoon before any government troops could even reach the rest of the mountain.

"The entire hill has been in Communist hands since early Saturday," said one officer with the attacking force, adding that the closest any government soldier had gotten to the mountain resort was about two miles down the slope, on the road up the mountain.

Safe Driving Appeal Sounded

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Col. Robert M. Charamonte, Ohio Highway Patrol superintendent, appealed to Ohioans today to help law enforcement agencies "hold the line" on traffic fatalities for the rest of this year.

He said the five per cent decrease in fatal accidents for the first half of 1970 could change quickly to an increase if the pattern set in June continues. June fatalities numbered 230 compared to 190 in June last year.

He warned that "traffic laws will be enforced as they are written and the reckless or drinking driver will be removed from the highway."

Red Cross To The Rescue

If enough people join in the letter-writing campaign the American Red Cross is now spearheading to protest the treatment of American prisoners of war by their Hanoi captors, something may yet be done to relieve these men of the terrible burden of anxiety which hangs constantly over them.

Hanoi has proved convincingly it cares not a whit for the men nor entreaties made in their behalf by their families or their government. But even individuals as callous as the North Vietnamese leaders can be influenced by an overwhelming of protest against their inhumanity, especially if it carries strong support from world opinion.

That is the objective the "Write

Hanoi" campaign must aim for. To involve not only a vast segment of the American public, but other nationals as well. The Red Cross is in a unique position to do this, because it is a global operation with branches behind the iron curtain.

The U.S. State Department has been remiss in not trying to make every effort to enlist the aid of other governments in behalf of the hundreds of American prisoners who, as far as their captors are concerned, have disappeared from the face of the earth. If it must be left to individual citizens providing an excellent vehicle.

Millions everywhere should climb aboard to protest this outrage.

Class War In Ireland

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

In Northern Ireland the war, as it appears in the headlines, is religious. That fantastic Elmer Gantry of North Irish Protestantism, the Reverend Ian Paisley, who sits in the British House of Commons as well as in the Ulster parliament, would have you believe that "Popery" is the issue. So he disrupts an "ecumenical" guest Mass celebrated by Catholics in Britain's Anglican Canterbury Cathedral, raising a row in a country not his own for the sake of publicity in Ulster. Catholics in Belfast respond to Paisley's provocations by clobbering Protestants. But someone — meaning the Northern Irish common man, both Catholic and Presbyterian — is being had. Under the surface a hard Left which has no particular interest in religion of any sort edges things along. The common man, a pawn of revolutionists, gets killed.

The object of the war is not to win civil rights in North Ireland; that phase is already closed. Every citizen, whether Catholic or Protestant, poor or rich, now has the vote. The administration of the city of Londonderry — or Derry, as you must call it to please its citizens — is in Catholic hands. In Belfast's Stormont Castle the ruling Unionist party, a centrist body, is doing its best to provide housing and to create jobs; its welfare payments, reinforced from London, provide a higher standard of living for the poor than may be obtained in Eire. But the war in Northern Ireland goes on because revolutionists want to turn it into a class war. Fiery Ian McCann, who headed the civil rights movement yesterday, is now openly crusading for a united Ireland under socialist rule. If Bernadette Devlin were out of jail she would be helping him.

Curiously enough, Mr. McCann gets little support for his "combined socialist Ireland" in Dublin. A majority of Eire's Irishmen might like to see the North and the South joined together under one flag at some point along the road, but they don't want it to be under socialist auspices and they hesitate to see it accomplished by violence. They don't wish Ireland to become a European Cuba.

How can this be said with any certainty? A poll conducted by the (southern) Irish magazine, This Week, tells a fairly convincing story. To a question, "Would you approve or disapprove of arms being supplied from the twenty-six counties to people in the North?", 83 per cent disapproved, 11 per cent approved and 6 per cent said they didn't have an opinion. There was no generation gap in the vote; the under-35 respondents divided by percentages that were almost identical with the older vote. The women, however, were a bit more pacifist than the men. At least one male in ten in the south would like to see gun-running continue.

If the Rev. Mr. Paisley wants to keep the religious war going, he is not joined by churches other than his own. The troubles in Northern Ireland have brought the four major denominations in both North and South Ireland together in a tougher ecumenical stance than they have shown in a generation. William Cardinal Conway, the Catholic primate of Ireland (he is also Archbishop of Armagh which is St. Patrick's old stamping ground), joins with the Reverend John Carson, moderator of the Presbyterian Church, in asking for a cessation of the religious war. They are supported by the Anglican Archbishop of Dublin, George Sims and by the Reverend George Good, president of the Methodist Church.

So Ulster could have peace if the extremists would only lay off. But peace is not the extremists' bag anywhere east or west of Vietnam. Nobody knows how much "relief" money collected in the United States for the alleviation of poverty in North Ireland is deflected to revolutionary causes, but the FBI suspects that it is considerable. When he was in the U.S., Ian McCann, who keeps a picture of Lenin on his office wall at home, spoke for four hours, to a group on Fourteenth Street in New York City. At this meeting a visitor could have signed with any one of three organizations, the People's Democracy (Maoist and Castroite), the National Association for Irish Justice (for a united proletarian Ireland), or the Socialist International. One visitor joined them all — and the literature he collects from them is interchangeable.

The Orangemen still fight the Wearin' O' the Green in North Ireland. But a more sinister war goes on for the soul of a country. If the hard Left wins, and a socialist worker flag flies over the whole of Ireland, all the old symbols and traditions, along with the religions that gave them sanction, will shrivel. It's a tall order, but Northern Ireland must become as ecumenical as Switzerland if any of its religions are to persist.

Welfare Chief Takes New Job

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Steven A. Minter, 31, Cuyahoga County's youngest welfare director and the first Negro to hold the job, has submitted his resignation effective Aug. 7 to become the state welfare director for Massachusetts.

"Sure, there is a difference of about $10,000 a year in salary," said Minter, who currently earns $18,720 a year, "but this is not the reason I submitted my resignation. It is a chance to make a greater impact in the field of public welfare."

Minter currently handles a $120-million-a-year department budget. The new post has a budget of about $630 million. Massachusetts has about 500,000 welfare recipients, about one-third in Boston.

Yesterday's Answer

Sometime ago you mentioned a new drug for children who wet their beds. Because our six-year-old boy still cannot completely control his bladder, he is embarrassed at school. Can you give us the name of the drug and tell us how successful it has been?

Mrs. O.C.L., Texas
Dear Mrs. L.: The drug I referred to is Imipramine. Some doctors have used it with a moderate amount of success. This drug, however, is not the only answer to the problem. There are a number of electrical devices that wake a bed-wetting child before the "accident" occurs. These, too, have been used in some cases to retrain the child.

It has been more than a year and a half since I mentioned Imipramine and I hope that you have not allowed all this time to go by without actively pursuing the underlying physical and psychological reasons for your son's bed-wetting. That which is most important is the need for psychological guidance for the parents and for the child, who lives in a constant state of anxiety.

Your encouragement is exceedingly important. To punish or shame a child for a reflex action he cannot control lays the groundwork for a great deal of difficulty later in life. Of course, I assume that every physical possibility has been ruled out. All methods must, of course, be used under the planned jurisdiction of a doctor. Certainly, drugs themselves cannot be used without his specific permission.

How can I take my doctor seriously when he smokes like a chimney and insists that I give it up?

Mr. D. B., Colorado
Dear Mr. B.: You must completely dissociate yourself from the smoking habits of your doctor. His health obviously does not depend on yours. Perhaps if you give up smoking you can play an important role in inducing him to stop. Undoubtedly he has the same difficulties as you do in breaking a habit that is so hazardous to health.

Is there any point in a friend's handshake that leaves your fingers in pain?

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

DR. HERBERT RICHARDS would have you know the sad story of the experimenter who crossed a turkey with an ostrich, hoping to get bigger drumsticks. All he got for his pains, however, was a scrawny bird who kept hiding his head in the mashed potatoes.

Driving up to the Adirondacks, a bright lad asked his father about road signs, particularly one that appeared at frequent intervals: "Slippery When Wet." After Dad had patiently explained that one, Junior shrugged and said, "So what? So am I!"

In his stunning novel, "Cat's Cradle," Kurt Vonnegut, Jr., tells a story of the morning that an internationally famous but lamentably absent-minded physicist left for Sweden to collect a Nobel Prize. His wife cooked him his favorite breakfast. Then, when she cleared off the table, she found a quarter and a dime alongside his coffee cup. He had tipped her.

In the art class of an elementary school, the teacher ordered her charges one morning to draw a picture of what each of them hoped to be when they grew up. Some drew cowboys, some firemen, others baseball players—but one kid simply sat staring at his blank sheet of paper. "What's the matter, Andy?" chided the teacher. "Don't you know what you want to be when you grow up?" "Sure, I do," replied Andy. "I want to be married—but I don't know how to draw it!"

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I have a mild form of epilepsy which is kept under control with drugs. I plan to be married this fall and my wife-to-be knows that I have the condition. Although we have never spoken about it, I know that we are both somewhat afraid that our children may inherit this condition. What are the chances of this happening?

Mr. E.N.B., New Jersey
Dear Mr. B.: If there is no long history of epilepsy on both sides of the family, the chances are negligible that your children will inherit this condition.

That which stands out prominently in your letter is the fact that you have both avoided the discussion of this most important aspect of your lives. Unless you do, you are inviting hazards to a good marriage. There are now many universities and hospitals where you can be given the advantage of genetic counseling. Here specialists are able to review your entire medical background and then assure you and spare you concern. To embark on a marriage without clear and open study of this important problem would do you both a great injustice.

Some time ago you mentioned a new drug for children who wet their beds. Because our six-year-old boy still cannot completely control his bladder, he is embarrassed at school. Can you give us the name of the drug and tell us how successful it has been?

Mrs. O.C.L., Texas

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — You can hardly blame some of the mutual funds for being gunshy these days after being shot out of the stratosphere into which they had ascended on warm currents rising from an overheated economy.

The ascent was pure pleasure, a soaring, euphoric feeling that a balloonist might best describe. The descent was as graceless as that of a wounded goose frantically fighting to keep feathers, flesh and bones together.

Some funds have lost nearly 50 per cent of their assets in the past 12 months, a record that in most other fields would be reason enough for doubts to be raised about professional qualifications.

But, dismal as the past record is, some investment analysts are wondering if the funds might not be late in preparing for the future, for the upturn that some of their analysts are hesitatingly suggesting may be at hand.

Their cash position, that is, is as high now as ever in history. The average for all funds at the end of May was 13.4 per cent of assets in cash, or a total in the neighborhood of $5 billion that is withheld from the market.

The percentage is even higher for growth funds, which like to believe they ride the crest of any prolonged market advance. A study of 27 of the 30 largest growth funds showed their liquid assets averaged 15.9 per cent, or $1.3 billion at the end of June.

This figure represents a big rise from 9.2 per cent six months earlier, and is explained in part by the drop in market prices. The decline in assets—as much as actual cash buildup—helped change the percentages.

The figures are, nevertheless, high. The study, by Arthur Lipner Corp., shows that while one fund kept only 2.2 per cent of its assets uninvested, another fund had fully 40 per cent of its investment power on the sidelines.

The questions are these: Does the high cash position of the funds indicate that they have widely withdrawn to the security of cash and other non-equity funds until the decline in prices is over?

Or does it mean that they are overlooking the opportunity to invest in stocks at bargain prices? Isn't it better to invest when the market is low rather than when it has resumed its climb?

Either position may be argued, but more than a few investment analysts believe in the second position. They note that in the past the funds have been most heavily committed to the market when prices were topping out.

This suggests that the funds may be in the same class as the rank amateur, the small investor, who is said by many professionals, fund managers included, to completely miss all the big turns in the market.

If the market is at its low, as suggested by many analysts, including those employed by the mutual funds, shouldn't this be the time to buy? If the market is at its low, do you wait until prices are higher before buying? It seems imprudent and illogical for any investor, large or small, to forecast improvement in market conditions in the future and not put his money where his mouth is.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The last of Hollywood's three one-time grande dames of the press is leaving the local scene.

Last week Sheila Graham told Abdel Green of Variety that she was going to end her reporting of movie chatter. She plans to devote herself to book writing and a column called "Speaking for Myself," with emphasis on a broad range of issues of interest to women.

The other members of the onetime "Terrible Trio" were the late Hedda Hopper and Louella Parsons, now in a Santa Monica sanitarium. Somehow the place doesn't seem the same.

The three ladies were considered terrible only in the power wielded over the careers of the famous and over the movies they made. On the whole that power was exercised benevolently, though many a bruised ego didn't think so.

First came Louella. For almost 20 years she enjoyed a near monopoly on studio news. With the powerful aid of her patron, William Randolph Hearst, she insisted that the studios channel important announcements through her. She also acted as mother confessor for two generations of stars, and that helped her maintain control of the personal news.

A pretender to the throne arrived in the late 1930s. Hedda Hopper had been a successful actress. Down on her luck, she turned to selling real estate then decided to write a movie column. A colorful figure in her own right, she brought verve and daring to her new profession.

Having had no journalistic training, she was never the reporter that Louella was. But Hedda made up for it in guts. She never deposed Louella, but she became equal in power. Sheila was always No. 3 and hence had to try ever so much harder. She attracted notice by the classic column technique of picking big targets. Concerted attacks on such stars as Clark Gable and Claudette Colbert accomplished the purpose of gaining attention. Such tactics also barred Miss Graham from a number of the movie sets.

In recent years she has spent more time in London and New York than in Hollywood, and she has also led an active literary life. So it was no surprise when she disclosed that she is through with reporting the foibles of the stars.

A simulated battle, representing defense of an enemy attack, was staged at A. C. Park on Deercreek by Company M.O.N.G., composed of members of the famous Rainbow Division. The public was invited to witness the battle and to enjoy the bathing, boating and picnic facilities at the park.

The popular repertoire company, Billroy's Comedians, played a week's engagement at Mason's Field. Vaudeville specialties were presented between acts of the staged dramas.

Jacob Sylvanus Smith, 77, one of Ashville's earliest settlers, died at the home of his son, Stanley Smith in Ashville.

Well known truck gardener Lewis Henn, 70, died at his home on Lovers' Lane.

Lightning struck the residence of James Wolford, Darbyville Mud Road, tearing the telephone from the kitchen wall and throwing it into another room.

Both Mrs. Wolford and her daughter were shocked. Russell Finley, a farm hand, had his head cut and very peculiar after effects from the electricity. His body would glow red and then change to a deathly white. All recovered.

Chamber of Commerce members decided to hold bi-monthly meetings during July, August and September. The sessions were to be held in towns and villages of the county so they (the members) might get acquainted with people who were the buyers of merchandise in the county seat.

All county dog owners were warned to either muzzle their dogs or have them immunized against rabies. County Commissioners would pay for the Pasteur treatment of anyone bitten by a rabid animal.

Friedman's special for a week was imported English broad-cloth dresses at $2.95.

An application for a dance hall permit at Darbyville was refused by Judge Adkins.

Carl Johnson, son of Circleville Editor J. W. Johnson, purchased the Bourbon News of Paris, Ky., one of the oldest semi-weekly newspapers in the Blue Grass state. The new owner had been city editor of the Madison County Democrat.

Confiscation of the largest drag seine ever seized in Ross County was announced by Game Warden Francis. The net was found in the home of a Circleville butcher. Prominent local men were allegedly involved in the partnership seine.

The Business and Professional Women's club hosted a public lawn party on the court house lawn.

Cattle sheds and straw stack were destroyed by fire on the farm of Howard Noecker, Walnut Creek Pike, while threshers were at dinner on the farm.

W. D. Watts, rural mail carrier, landed a monster spoon fish from the Scioto River near Westfall. The fish weighed 12½ pounds. The spoon was nearly 12 inches long.

The flour mill of John H. Hess at Williamsport was destroyed by flames. It had been built in 1900 by L. O. Morgan.

Today is Wednesday, July 15 the 196th day of 1970. There are 190 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1948 Democratic National Convention in Philadelphia nominated President Harry Truman as the party's presidential candidate.

In 1789, France's King Louis XVI was awakened early in the morning and told his authority had collapsed with the fall of the Bastille.

In 1912, the United States won the Olympic Games in Stockholm.

In 1918, Americans attacked German positions at Chateau-Thierry in France. Also, the second battle of the Marne began.

In 1958, President Eisenhower ordered 3,500 U.S. Marines to Lebanon following a coup in nearby Iraq.

In 1959, a general strike was started by the Steelworkers Union, halting 85 per cent of the nation's steel production.

Ten years ago, John F. Kennedy accepted the Democratic nomination for president and spoke of a "New Frontier" for America.

Five years ago, Mariner 4, the world's first probe of the planet Mars, began transmitting photos of the planet back to earth. One year ago, Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird said the United States "turned the corner" toward peace in Vietnam.

Red Cross To The Rescue

If enough people join in the letter-writing campaign the American Red Cross is now spearheading to protest the treatment of American prisoners of war by their Hanoi captors, something may yet be done to relieve these men of the terrible burden of anxiety which hangs constantly over them.

Hanoi has proved convincingly it cares not a whit for the men nor entreaties made in their behalf by their families or their government. But even individuals as callous as the North Vietnamese leaders can be influenced by an overwhelming of protest against their inhumanity, especially if it carries strong support from world opinion.

That is the objective the "Write

Hanoi" campaign must aim for. To involve not only a vast segment of the American public, but other nationals as well. The Red Cross is in a unique position to do this, because it is a global operation with branches behind the iron curtain.

The U.S. State Department has been remiss in not trying to make every effort to enlist the aid of other governments in behalf of the hundreds of American prisoners who, as far as their captors are concerned, have disappeared from the face of the earth. If it must be left to individual citizens providing an excellent vehicle.

Millions everywhere should climb aboard to protest this outrage.

Class War In Ireland

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

In Northern Ireland the war, as it appears in the headlines, is religious. That fantastic Elmer Gantry of North Irish Protestantism, the Reverend Ian Paisley, who sits in the British House of Commons as well as in the Ulster parliament, would have you believe that "Popery" is the issue. So he disrupts an "ecumenical" guest Mass celebrated by Catholics in Britain's Anglican Canterbury Cathedral, raising a hub in a country not his own for the sake of publicity in Ulster. Catholics in Belfast respond to Paisley's provocations by clobbering Protestants. But someone — meaning the Northern Irish common man, both Catholic and Presbyterian — is being hard. Under the surface a hard Left which has no particular interest in religion of any sort edges things along. The common man, a pawn of revolutionists, gets killed.

The object of the war is not to win civil rights in North Ireland; that phase is already closed. Every citizen, whether Catholic or Protestant, poor or rich, now has the vote. The administration of the city of Londonderry — or Derry, as you must call it to please its citizens — is in Catholic hands. In Belfast's Stormont Castle the ruling Unionist party, a centrist body, is doing its best to provide housing and to create jobs; its welfare payments, reinforced from London, provide a higher standard of living for the poor than may be obtained in Eire. But the war in Northern Ireland goes on because revolutionists want to turn it into a class war. Fiery Ian McCann, who headed the civil rights movement yesterday, is now openly crusading for a united Ireland under socialist rule. If Bernadette Devlin were out of jail she would be helping him.

Curiously enough, Mr. McCann gets little support for his "combined socialist Ireland" in Dublin. A majority of Eire's Irishmen might like to see the North and the South joined together under one flag at some point along the road, but they don't want it to be under socialist auspices and they hesitate to see it accomplished by violence. They don't wish Ireland to become a European Cuba.

How can this be said with any certainty? A poll conducted by the (southern) Irish magazine, This Week, tells a fairly convincing story. To a question, "Would you approve or disapprove of arms being supplied from the twenty-six counties to people in the North?", 83 per cent disapproved, 11 per cent approved and 6 per cent said they didn't have an opinion. There was no generation gap in the vote; the under-35 respondents divided by percentages that were almost identical with the older vote. The women, however, were a bit more pacifist than the men. At least one male in ten in the south would like to see gun-running continue.

If the Rev. Mr. Paisley wants to keep the religious war going, he is not joined by churches other than his own. The troubles in Northern Ireland have brought the four major denominations in both North and South Ireland together in a tougher ecumenical stance than they have shown in a generation. William Cardinal Conway, the Catholic primate of Ireland (he is also Archbishop of Armagh which is St. Patrick's old stamping ground), joins with the Reverend John Carson, moderator of the Presbyterian Church, in asking for a cessation of the religious war. They are supported by the Anglican Archbishop of Dublin, George Sims and by the Reverend George Good, president of the Methodist Church.

So Ulster could have peace if the extremists would only lay off. But peace is not the extremists' bag anywhere east or west of Vietnam. Nobody knows how much "relief" money collected in the United States for the alleviation of poverty in North Ireland is deflected to revolutionary causes, but the FBI suspects that it is considerable. When he was in the U.S., Ian McCann, who keeps a picture of Lenin on his office wall at home, spoke for four hours, to a group on Fourteenth Street in New York City. At this meeting a visitor could have signed with any one of three organizations, the People's Democracy (Maoist and Castroite), the National Association for Irish Justice (for a united proletarian Ireland), or the Socialist International. One visitor joined them all — and the literature he collects from them is interchangeable.

The Orangemen still fight the Wearin' O' the Green in North Ireland. But a more sinister war goes on for the soul of a country. If the hard Left wins, and a socialist worker flag flies over the whole of Ireland, all the old symbols and traditions, along with the religions that gave them sanction, will shrivel. It's a tall order, but Northern Ireland must become as ecumenical as Switzerland if any of its religions are to persist.

Welfare Chief Takes New Job

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Steven A. Minter, 31, Cuyahoga County's youngest welfare director and the first Negro to hold the job, has submitted his resignation effective Aug. 7 to become the state welfare director for Massachusetts.

"Sure, there is a difference of about $10,000 a year in salary," said Minter, who currently earns $18,720 a year, "but this is not the reason I submitted my resignation. It is a chance to make a greater impact in the field of public welfare."

Minter currently handles a $120-million-a-year department budget. The new post has a budget of about $630 million. Massachusetts has about 500,000 welfare recipients, about one-third in Boston.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

DR. HERBERT RICHARDS would have you know the sad story of the experimenter who crossed a turkey with an ostrich, hoping to get bigger drumsticks. All he got for his pains, however, was a scrawny bird who kept hiding his head in the mashed potatoes.

Driving up to the Adirondacks, a bright lad asked his father about road signs, particularly one that appeared at frequent intervals: "Slippery When Wet." After Dad had patiently explained that one, Junior shrugged and said, "So what? So am I!"

In his stunning novel, "Cat's Cradle," Kurt Vonnegut, Jr., tells a story of the morning that an internationally famous but lamentably absent-minded physicist left for Sweden to collect a Nobel Prize. His wife cooked him his favorite breakfast. Then, when she cleared off the table, she found a quarter and a dime alongside his coffee cup. He had tipped her.

In the art class of an elementary school, the teacher ordered her charges one morning to draw a picture of what each of them hoped to be when they grew up. Some drew cowboys, some firemen, others baseball players—but one kid simply sat staring at his blank sheet of paper. "What's the matter, Andy?" chided the teacher. "Don't you know what you want to be when you grow up?" "Sure, I do," replied Andy. "I want to be married—but I don't know how to draw it!"

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I have a mild form of epilepsy which is kept under control with drugs. I plan to be married this fall and my wife-to-be knows that I have the condition. Although we have never spoken about it, I know that we are both somewhat afraid that our children may inherit this condition. What are the chances of this happening?

Mr. E.N.B., New Jersey
Dear Mr. B.: If there is no long history of epilepsy on both sides of the family, the chances are negligible that your children will inherit this condition.

That which stands out prominently in your letter is the fact that you have both avoided the discussion of this most important aspect of your lives. Unless you do, you are inviting hazards to a good marriage.

There now are many universities and hospitals where you can be given the advantage of genetic counseling. Here specialists are able to review your entire medical background and then assure you and spare you concern. To embark on a marriage without clear and open study of this important problem would do you both a great injustice.

Sometime ago you mentioned a new drug for children who wet their beds. Because our six-year-old boy still cannot completely control his bladder, he is embarrassed at school. Can you give us the name of the drug and tell us how successful it has been?

Mrs. O.C.L., Texas
Dear Mrs. L.: The drug I referred to is Imipramine. Some doctors have used it with a moderate amount of success. This drug, however, is not the only answer to the problem. There are a number of electrical devices that wake a bed-wetting child before the "accident" occurs. These, too, have been used in some cases to retrain the child.

It has been more than a year and a half since I mentioned Imipramine and I hope that you have not allowed all this time to go by without actively pursuing the underlying physical and psychological reasons for your son's bed-wetting. That which is most important is the need for psychological guidance for the parents and for the child, who lives in a constant state of anxiety.

Your encouragement is exceedingly important. To punish or shame a child for a reflex action he cannot control lays the groundwork for a great deal of difficulty later in life. Of course, I assume that every physical possibility has been ruled out. All methods must, of

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — You can hardly blame some of the mutual funds for being gunshy these days after being shot out of the stratosphere into which they had ascended on warm currents rising from an overheated economy.

The ascent was pure pleasure, a soaring, euphoric feeling that a balloonist might best describe. The descent was as graceless as that of a wounded goose frantically fighting to keep feathers, flesh and bones together.

Some funds have lost nearly 50 per cent of their assets in the past 12 months, a record that in most other fields would be reason enough for doubts to be raised about professional qualifications.

But, dismal as the past record is, some investment analysts are wondering if the funds might not be late in preparing for the future, for the return that some of their analysts are hesitatingly suggesting may be at hand.

Their cash position, that is, is as high now as ever in history. The average for all funds at the end of May was 13.4 per cent of assets in cash, or a total in the neighborhood of $5 billion that is withheld from the market.

The percentage is even higher for growth funds, which like to believe they ride the crest of any prolonged market advance. A study of 27 of the 30 largest growth funds showed their liquid assets averaged 15.9 per cent, or $1.3 billion at the end of June.

This figure represents a big rise from 9.2 per cent six months earlier, and is explained in part by the drop in market prices. The decline in assets—as much as actual cash buildup—helped change the percentages.

The figures are, nevertheless, high. The study, by Arthur Lerner Corp., shows that while one fund kept only 2.2 per cent of its assets uninvested, another fund had fully 40 per cent of its investment power on the sidelines.

The questions are these: Does the high cash position of the funds indicate that they have widely withdrawn to the security of cash and other non-equity funds until the decline in prices is over?

Or does it mean that they are overlooking the opportunity to invest in stocks at bargain prices? Isn't it better to invest when the market is low rather than when it has resumed its climb?

Either position may be argued, but more than a few investment analysts believe in the second position. They note that in the past the funds have been most heavily committed to the market when prices were topping out.

This suggests that the funds may be in the same class as the rank amateur, the small investor, who is said by many professionals, fund managers included, to completely miss all the big turns in the market.

If the market is at its low, as suggested by many analysts, including those employed by the mutual funds, shouldn't this be the time to buy? If the market is at its low, do you wait until prices are higher before buying? It seems imprudent and illogical for any investor, large or small, to forecast improvement in market conditions in the future and not put his money where his mouth is.

Fund salesmen are talking up the market. But fund portfolio managers are on the sidelines. Isn't money-making still the name of the game? That's what they said when it was easy to make it in the market.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Riding the rodeo circuit can be the road to riches for television's Western stars.

A performer who works at it diligently can pick up better than $200,000 during the year in guest appearances at fairs and rodeos.

At this time Milburn Stone and Ken Curtis, who play Doc Adams and Festus Haggen on CBS's "Gunsmoke," are at the Snake River Stampede in Nampa, Idaho.

They were at Greeley, Colo., on the Fourth of July and on Aug. 5 they go to the Pikes Peak Rodeo at Colorado Springs, Colo. In September it's the New Mexico State Fair and in October they play a date in Oklahoma.

Stone and Curtis, along with Lorne Greene and Dan Blocker of "Bonanza," are among the most sought-after for rodeo appearances.

"The first year Ken and I teamed up we played 10 dates," said Stone. "The next year we played 18 or 19 together. Even before my heart attack I said I didn't want to do that many."

Stone only plays about five dates a year now, but Curtis plays a number of singles. "Ken more than doubles his 'Gunsmoke' salary but he really works for it," Stone said.

Between rodeos and "Gunsmoke," Doc puts in a lot of time fishing at his favorite spots, Lake Mead and Lake Mohave, near Las Vegas. At the end of this month he and Curtis fly to Minnesota to fish for muskies for ABC's "The American Sportsman."

Stone and Curtis travel with the Frontiersmen and Joanie and put on a musical act that includes a large sampling of their bickering from their series.

"We tried splitting up the zingers, but it didn't work out that way," Stone said. "The audience wants to see him nail me every time. It's the country boy come to town."

Stone said he observes two rules on dates. "We turn down all private parties. There's always this guy who asks you to come out for a quiet dinner. And when you get there all of his friends are there and they've all had a snootful and start tugging at you."

Second, "We visit hospitals and the like. It takes up a lot of time and energy. But if you don't feel this way you shouldn't be there. You've been in their homes every week, you're old friends."

Stone, who said his character is based on the real-life Dr. McCarthy and Dr. Fabrique of Dodge City, recently was asked to write the forward to the 17th edition of "Horse and Buggy Doctor," by Dr. Arthur E. Hertzler. "Being asked to write that means more to me than winning the Emmy," Stone said.

U.S. Military Justice System Challenged

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The constitutionality of the entire U.S. system of military justice comes under a broad attack today in the case of a soldier charged with murder in the alleged massacre at My Lai.

At issue before a three-judge federal panel is whether the Army has a legal right to try Sgt. Esequiel Torres, 22, of Brownsville, Tex.

The hearing was on a petition filed June 24 by attorney Charles L. Weltner of Atlanta, the first civil intervention into the Army's jurisdiction over the My Lai case.

It contends an Army trial by court-martial would violate Torres' constitutional rights on 15 grounds and asks either that the Army be permanently enjoined from trying Torres or that the case be transferred to federal court.

The court was expected to hear Weltner's arguments in support of the petition. There was no indication whether the Army would present rebuttal arguments, or whether a number of Army witnesses subpoenaed by Weltner would appear.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge Albert J. Henderson, one of the jurists on the panel, issued a temporary injunction against the Army in Torres' case two weeks ago. Since then, similar petitions have been filed in other courts for two others also accused in the alleged My Lai massacre.

One of those petitions, for S. Sgt. David Mitchell, 30, of St. Francisville, La., was taken under advisement Tuesday by U.S. Dist. Court Judge Jack Roberts of Austin, Tex.

The other, in behalf of Spec. 4 Robert W. T'Souvas, 21, of San Jose, Calif., has not been set for a hearing.

Henderson, in granting the temporary injunction for Torres, said the case "strikes at the very heart of military justice."

Government attorneys said it could prompt every person being court-martialed in Southeast Asia to seek civil stays.

Sources said it was highly unlikely that the three federal judges would take immediate action.

They indicated instead the panel probably would take the case under study and continue the temporary injunction until reaching its final decision.

The Army had set the pretrial hearing for Torres' general court-martial for 9 a.m. Friday. Torres, a member of the American Division during its March 1968 raid on My Lai, is charged with the murder of four Vietnamese civilians—one by hanging—and the attempted murder of at least three others. Weltner challenged the constitutionality of U.S. jurisdiction in a case involving foreign territory and foreign nationals during a time the nation is not involved in a declared war and failure to provide for a trial by jury. Weltner also contended the Army had exerted undue command influence in the case and that widespread publicity had made it impossible for Torres to receive a fair and impartial trial from the Army.

Mitchell is charged with two counts of assault with intent to murder and T'Souvas with two counts of premeditated murder.

All three have denied the charges. They face a maximum life sentence if convicted.

Nixon Boosts Republicans During Trip To Cincinnati

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's nonpartisan trip to big league baseball's 1970 all-star game found him about as nonpolitical as the organizer and scoreboard operator in the National League park where the game was played.

Nixon, during his brief stay in Cincinnati Tuesday night, missed no chance to boost Republican aspirants for high office in the November election.

The most prominent beneficiary of his embrace was Rep. Robert A. Taft Jr., who hopes to best Democrat Howard Metzenbaum for the U.S. Senate.

Taft, whose home is in Cincinnati, was on hand when the chief executive arrived for a pregame family dinner at a downtown hotel.

Taking the candidate by the elbow, Nixon escorted him across the street toward a sizable welcoming crowd and began shaking hands with enthusiasm.

Taft, however, did not take the cue. He beamed as he followed Nixon, but his hands remained at his side.

The President finally began introducing the candidate to the crowd so photographers could get pictures of an animated Taft.

Then Nixon climbed atop the hood of his bubbletop limousine and literally pulled Taft up behind him so they could be seen by more of the cheering citizens.

As for the ballgame itself, Nixon declined to show any favoritism in advance. But afterwards he admitted the American League was his sentimental favorite, although the National League won 5-4 in 12 innings.

As for the organizer at Cincinnati's new Riverfront Stadium, he played fight music for the National League squad. All the American League team heard from him was a funeral dirge when one of its pitchers was knocked out of the box.

The scoreboard, high in centerfield, kept exhorting the National leaguers, in bright white lights, to "charge" and "Go Go Go!"

The home plate umpire was Al Barlick of the National League and, between one of the late innings, he approached Nixon's box to get a towel.

"I like your decisions," Nixon called out to him.

"I like your's too," Barlick responded.

Nixon began the day by flying to Louisville to meet with 12 governors of Appalachia. He told an enthusiastic street crowd of many thousands that staying in Washington was like being in "an isolation booth in the old quiz shows where the man inside can't hear what is going on outside."

He said he hoped to make more forays around the country soon. The fact that it is an election year presumably will be a matter of coincidence.

Trailer Blaze Kills 2 Children

MONACA, Pa. (AP) — Fire gutted a house trailer in nearby Center Township Tuesday afternoon, killing two children alone inside.

Cause has not been determined.

They were Susan McCinnis, 3, and her brother Michael, 2. The bodies were found on a bed, firemen said.

Their father, Irvin McGinnis, was away at work, and their mother, Kathleen, had gone shopping with a neighbor, police said.

Firemen, summoned by neighbors, used axes to break in a locked door of the trailer in Tate's Trailer Courts.

Three 4-Hers Recognized For Outstanding Leadership

KEY AWARD — Patty Schein and Vicki Fraunfelter were recognized for leadership contribution to 4-H. Present for the presentation of the award were, from the left: Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schein, Patty, Vicki and Francis Fraunfelter.

LEADERSHIP — Dave Garrett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mostyn Garrett, was presented the 4-H Buckeye Leader Key Award this weekend at Camp Clifton. He is shown above with his parents.

Each year three outstanding 4-Hers in Pickaway County are recognized for their leadership contribution to the total 4-H program. This year's recipients of the 4-H Buckeye Leader Key Award are no exceptions.

Vicki Fraunfelter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Fraunfelter, Route 4, Circleville, has been extremely active in local club activities in the Stir and Chatter 4-H club and the Pickaway County Junior Fair Board. Vicki, a graduate of Logan Elm High School, participated in many activities there.

Patty Schein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schein, Route 1, Williamsport, participates in the Deer Creek Busy Bees and Deer Creek Livestock 4-H clubs. Patty is secretary of the Junior Fair Board and a member of the Junior Leadership Club.

Dave Garrett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mostyn Garrett, Route 3, Mt. Sterling, has been active in the Darby Fine and Dandy 4-H club, past president of the Junior Fair Board, past vice president of the Junior Leadership Club. Patty and Dave are graduates of Westfall High School.

These awards were announced at the Area Citizenship Seminar at Camp Clifton this past weekend.

Grove City Fair Opens In Park

Circleville residents are less than 30 minutes from one of the southwestern Franklin County's biggest events, the Grove City Community Fair.

The four day fair opened today at the city's Windsor Park with 14 major amusement company rides and daily entertainment at 8 p.m.

Wednesday entertainment will include the Miss Grove City and Little Miss Grove City beauty pageant; Thursday evening entertainment includes the famous Grove City Barbershoppers in concert; a three hour hard rock show is planned for Friday for the teens; and the fair will close Saturday with headline country and western entertainers followed by a 30-minute fireworks show.

Special afternoon entertainment Thursday and Friday will include the Air Force patrol dogs from Lockbourne Air Force Base. Both shows will begin at 5 p.m.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Riding the rodeo circuit can be the road to riches for television's Western stars.

A performer who works at it diligently can pick up better than $200,000 during the year in guest appearances at fairs and rodeos.

At this time Milburn Stone and Ken Curtis, who play Doc Adams and Festus Haggen on CBS' "Gunsmoke," are at the Snake River Stampede in Nampa, Idaho.

They were at Greeley, Colo., on the Fourth of July and on Aug. 5 they go to the Pikes Peak Rodeo at Colorado Springs, Colo. In September it's the New Mexico State Fair and in October they play a date in Oklahoma.

Stone and Curtis, along with Lorne Greene and Dan Blocker of "Bonanza," are among the most sought-after for rodeo appearances.

"The first year Ken and I teamed up we played 19 dates," said Stone. "The next year we played 18 or 19 together. Even before my heart attack I said I didn't want to do that many."

Stone only plays about five dates a year now, but Curtis plays a number of singles. "Ken more than doubles his 'Gunsmoke' salary but he really works for it, Stone said.

Between rodeos and "Gunsmoke," Doc puts in a lot of time fishing at his favorite spots, Lake Mead and Lake Mohave, near Las Vegas. At the end of this month he and Curtis fly to Minnesota to fish for muskies for ABC's "The American Sportsman."

Stone and Curtis travel with the Frontiersmen and Joanie and put on a musical act that includes a large sampling of their bickering from their series.

"We tried splitting up the zingers, but it didn't work out that way, Stone said. "The audience wants to see him nail me every time. It's the country boy come to town."

Stone said he observes two rules on dates. "We turn down all private parties. There's always this guy who asks you to come out for a quiet dinner. And when you get there all of his friends are there and they've all had a snootful and start tugging at you."

Second, "We visit hospitals and the like. It takes up a lot of time and energy. But if you don't feel this way you shouldn't be there. You've been in their homes every week, you're old friends."

Stone, who said his character is based on the real-life Dr. McCarthy and Dr. Fabrique of Dodge City, recently was asked to write the forward to the 17th edition of "Horse and Buggy Doctor," by Dr. Arthur E. Hertzler. "Being asked to write that means more to me than winning the Emmy," Stone said.

He said he hoped to make more forays around the country soon. The fact that it is an election year presumably will be a matter of coincidence.

Francis H. Wright, senior vice president, said in testimony prepared for a Department of Interior hearing in New Orleans that the firm's gas reserves were so badly depleted last winter that East Ohio was forced May 1 to adopt a policy of restricting gas to industrial users.

"No new industrial customers will be added, and no additional gas will be sold to any existing customer until we are assured of new supplies," Wright's statement said.

He said East Ohio has had difficulty buying additional gas from suppliers and "we have largest suppliers advising that they will be unable to supply us with any additional gas in the foreseeable future."

Wright said it is "extremely urgent that the Department of the Interior quickly put the 137 tracts of submerged lands in the Gulf of Mexico offshore Western Louisiana up for sale."

Area Girl Scouts Plan Recruitment Program

Pickaway County Girl Scouts will be emphasizing recruitment during the remainder of July and August, according to Mrs. Richard Fisher, Circleville, director of Logan Trails service unit. Logan Trails includes Circleville, Williamsport, Laurelville and Washington Twp.

The Tri-Plains service unit, Ashville, Commercial Point and Walnut Township, will also be looking for adult volunteers during this time. Service unit director is Mrs. James Irwin, Ashville.

"The Girl Scout program is unique," Mrs. Fisher commented. "It gives a girl an opportunity to learn, through having fun with other girls her age, certain fundamental values which she can increasingly apply to everyday living as she becomes an adult."

These values, known as "Foundation Elements," are basic to Girl Scout program at every age level. They are: 1. the promise and laws; 2. service; 3. troop management; 4. citizenship; 5. international friendship; 6. health and safety.

"The promise and laws give girls a code of personal behavior and a feeling of dedication shared with their group," Mrs. Fisher pointed out. Explaining that service is perhaps among the aspects of Girl Scouting best recognized by the general public, she cited Junior troop 1061, some of who earned the books badge under the supervision of Mrs. Walter Hall. After receiving this badge, some of the girls volunteered their services to the library on Saturdays. During the summer months, they are helping in additional ways. Cheryl Bobbitt and Pam Sturgell are accompanying Mrs. Edward Grigg as she goes into the county for Story Hours this week. In addition, Cheryl Bobbitt along with Girl Scouts Kelly Spence, Marty Schenck, and Betsy Schenck are helping with the Story Telling Hour for grades 1 to 7 on Thursdays. On Fridays, Junior Girl Scouts Cheryl Bobbitt, Kelly Spence, Betsy Schenck, Marty Schenck, and Cadette Girl Scout Amy Curtiss, Troop 1132 are among girls helping at the Story Telling Hour for pre-schoolers. Those Scouts helping on Saturday are Carolyn Tammany, Pam Sturgell, Kelly Spence, Kathy Fisher, Linda Fisher, Marty Schenck, and Cheryl Bobbitt.

The Pickaway County Community Fund, a totally volunteer agency, is one of 12 United Funds Appeals contributing to the support of Seal of Ohio Girl Scout Council, of which Logan Trails is a part.

Welfare Costs For Ohioans $374 Million

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Welfare programs cost Ohioans nearly $374 million during fiscal 1970, State Auditor Roger Cloud reported Tuesday.

His report said actual expenditures were $373,917,774, for an increase of $36.5 million or 10.8 per cent over the $337,372,731 expenditures of fiscal 1969.

The auditor listed cost of the Aid for Dependent Children program at $125.2 million, up $19.3 million, or 53 per cent of the total for all programs.

He said there were 66,142 cases and 253,539 recipients of aid for dependent children, as against 57,404 cases and 227,196 recipients at the close of fiscal 1969.

Cloud noted three other welfare programs recording increases in costs over the previous year.

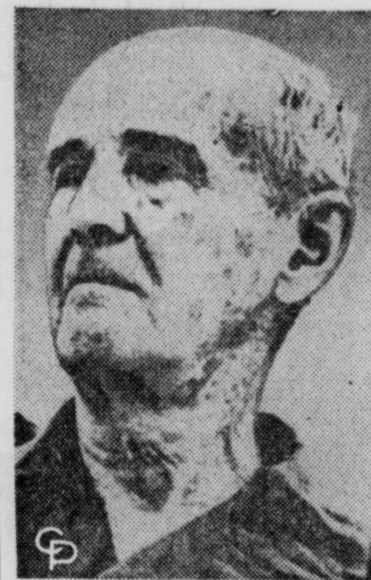

These expenditures and their respective increases were:

Extended care in nursing homes and state hospitals, $53,045,483, up $11.7 million; other health care, $71,413,469, up $7.1 million, and aid for the disabled, $26,117,682, up $3 million.

Four programs showed slight declines from 1969. These were:

General assistance, including the cost of administration of all welfare programs, $48.3 million, down $2 million; aid for the blind, $2.3 million, down $39,405; aid for the aged, $41.5 million, down $1.3 million and aid for the children of the unemployed, $5.7 million, down $732,501.

The auditor said his figures were subject to adjustment because of cancellations in various programs during the year.

LOOKS AT FREEDOM — Roman Catholic Bishop James Edward Walsh, 79, looks at freedom in Hong Kong after 12 years imprisonment in Communist China. Walsh is reported "in remarkably good health."

'Fast-Buck' Service Station Operations Draw Criticism

WASHINGTON (AP) — Responsible service station operators are fleeing the business in droves, leaving the driving public at the mercy of money-hungry dealers, a Senate subcommittee has been told.

Charles E. Shipley, a Standard Oil dealer from Detroit, said service stations are being taken over "by the fast buck artists who employ only gas pumpers with no training, no knowledge of the automobile, and no instructions or desire to fill even the basic safety needs of the motorist."

He made the statement in remarks prepared for delivery today before a Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee hearing into gas prices in Michigan.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., who is up for re-election this year, described the Michigan situation as typical of other areas of the nation.

The hearings, Hart said, are a case study using Michigan's experience to give an insight to the industry nationwide.

Shipley testified the high turnover of station operators resulting from the exodus of responsible businessmen has left a strictly price operation "and the word service has been forgotten. The business is gasoline at a price and that is all."

H said the problem "is not just the price cutting of a few fast buck artists. It is the special deals that many suppliers have made available to some dealers."

One such arrangement is to induce a dealer to cut the price in the rent concession, he said.

"The agreements on these programs are usually in the form of a rider to the lease so that they can be canceled at any time. This means that if a dealer's pricing does not follow the pattern the supplier wants, the deal is off."

Shipley said supplying firms own the vast majority of retail outlets and the few exceptions are usually second or third rate locations.

"By owning these outlets and renting them in such a manner that the rental structure itself is a form of subsidy to the lease, it precludes private capital from building on any choice real estate," he said.

Shipley said even when legal recourse is available to dealers, the "cost of fighting the giant corporations who supply us is out of the reach of our limited resources."

Clevelanders Show Alarm At Mounting Refuse Piles

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland residents are beginning to show alarm and some resignation as garbage begins to pile up on the streets from the city garbage collectors' week-long "sick leave."

"You can't blame anybody for trying to get what they think they deserve," said Jerry Fullilove, an East Side father of four. With five cans of garbage already sitting on the sidewalk in front of his home, Fullilove said he was worried that the refuse would be a health hazard to his family.

Michael J. Matthey, a retired United Auto Workers union member said he thought the garbage collectors should have a raise but they shouldn't stop working.

"I've seen a lot of strikes," The West Sider said, "but when they involve the health of people, that's bad."

A few Cleveland residents have taken to hauling away their own trash. Others are burning what they can. But in most cases refuse takes the form of overstuffed green or brown plastic bags or too-full garbage cans that decorate sidewalks and back yards.

If Cleveland residents are being inconvenienced by the strike, at least the rats are having a heyday.

East Side metalworker John Greenlee said there were a few rats in his neighborhood before the strike, but "now there's a lot. And there's a bad smell coming from the back yard," he said.

Greenlee said he and several neighbors got together and burned all the trash they could burn Sunday night.

Charles Sikula, manager of Super Market said his store has a private collection service and isn't affected by the strike. "But we've sure been selling a lot of garbage bags," he said.

At Cleveland Fire Station No. 25, fireman Lawrence Friess said, "garbage around here is a problem anyway." The fireman said the extra garbage was definitely a fire hazard in that area. "I'm not sure I'd strike if I were a garbage collector," he said.

"We don't like it, but everybody's got to live," said Mrs. Anna Grant. "It's really bad here," the East Side mother of three girls said. "I wonder what's going to happen next."

Cornelius Goeb, a retired carpenter from the West Side, admitted he was worried about the strike. "It's sure going to be a stinking mess if they don't clean it up pretty soon," he said. Goeb said he was spraying his refuse with insecticide to cut down on the health hazard.

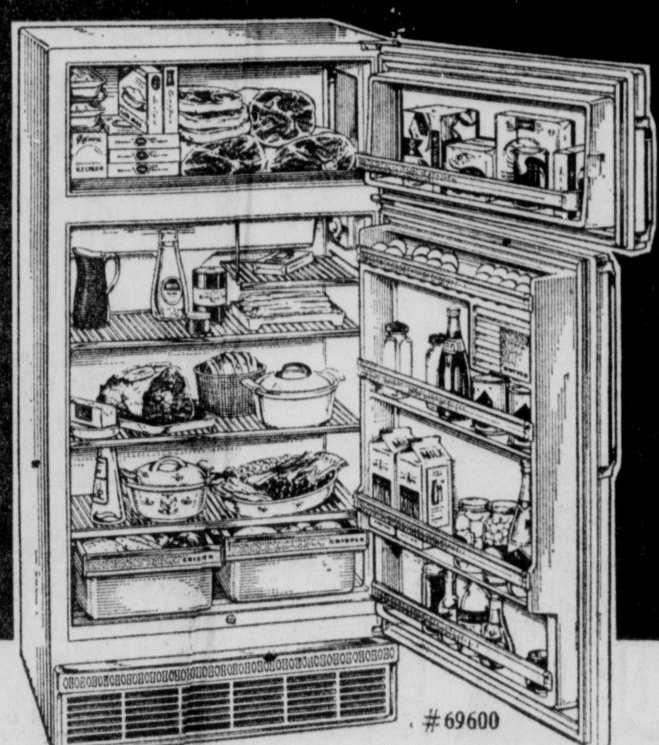

"I don't think they (the collectors) have the welfare of the city at heart," he said.

British Trade Deficit Noted

LONDON (AP) — British trade with the rest of the world went $122.4 million in the red in June, the biggest monthly deficit in 17 months, the Board of Trade announced Tuesday.

It was the third monthly trade deficit in a row, with losses of $24 million in April and $74.4 million in May. This brought down the monthly average from a profit of $26.4 million during the first quarter of the year to a deficit of $73.6 million in the second quarter.

The June figures, the first published by the new Conservative government, supported the Tory charge during the June election campaign that the nation's foreign trade performance was still imperiling its economic health despite claims by Harold Wilson's Labor government that it reversed the deficit trend.

There was no immediate comment today from Prime Minister Edward Heath's office, but the Board of Trade attributed the June performance partly to reduced exports to the United States and Canada at a time when British imports were rising.

His report said actual expenditures were $373,917,774, for an increase of $36.5 million or 10.8 per cent over the $337,372,731 expenditures of fiscal 1969.

The auditor listed cost of the Aid for Dependent Children program at $125.2 million, up $19.3 million, or 53 per cent of the total for all programs.

He said there were 66,142 cases and 253,539 recipients of aid for dependent children, as against 57,404 cases and 227,196 recipients at the close of fiscal 1969.

Four programs showed slight declines from 1969. These were:

General assistance, including the cost of administration of all welfare programs, $48.3 million, down $2 million; aid for the blind, $2.3 million, down $39,405; aid for the aged, $41.5 million, down $1.9 million and aid for the children of the unemployed, $5.7 million, down $732,501.

The auditor said his figures were subject to adjustment because of cancellations in various programs during the year.

'Fast-Buck' Service Station Operations Draw Criticism

WASHINGTON (AP) — Responsible service station operators are fleeing the business in droves, leaving the driving public at the mercy of money-hungry dealers, a Senate subcommittee has been told.

Charles E. Shipley, a Standard Oil dealer from Detroit, said service stations are being taken over "by the fast buck artists who employ only gas pumpers with no training, no knowledge of the automobile, and no instructions or desire to fill even the basic safety needs of the motorist."

He made the statement in remarks prepared for delivery today before a Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee hearing into gas prices in Michigan. Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., who is up for re-election this year, described the Michigan situation as typical of other areas of the nation.

The hearings, Hart said, are a case study using Michigan's experience to give an insight to the industry nationwide.

Shipley testified the high turnover of station operators resulting from the exodus of responsible businessmen has left a strictly price operation "and the word service has been forgotten. The business is gasoline at a price and that is all."

He said the problem "is not just the price cutting of a few fast buck artists. It is the special deals that many suppliers have made available to some dealers."

One such arrangement is to induce a dealer to cut the price in the rent concession, he said.

"The agreements on these programs are usually in the form of a rider to the lease so that they can be canceled at any time. This means that if a dealer's pricing does not follow the pattern the supplier wants, the deal is off."

"By owning these outlets and renting them in such a manner that the rental structure itself is a form of subsidy to the lessee, it precludes private capital from building on any choice real estate," he said.

Shipley said even when legal recourse is available to dealers, the "cost of fighting the giant corporations who supply us is out of the reach of our limited resources."

CAPTIVATING CANTALOUPE

2 medium cantaloupes 1 tsp. grated lemon peel
1 cup (approx.) Top Frost 1/4 cup toasted slivered almonds
Vanilla Ice Cream, softened
1 can (16-oz.) Food Club pitted dark sweet cherries (reserve syrup)

Cut thin slice from one end of each cantaloupe so they will stand upright. Slice other end of each cantaloupe until seeds are exposed. Scoop out seeds. Place each cantaloupe upright in bowl; freeze until cavity is slightly icy — about 3 hours.

In small mixer bowl combine ice cream, 2 tablespoons cherry syrup and lemon peel; beat until smooth. Stir in cherries and almonds; fill each cantaloupe. Return to freezer for about 3 hours. Just before serving, cut each cantaloupe crosswise into 4 slices. Serves 8

Vanessa Mills Wins District Speech Test

The Washington C. H. area 4-H safety speaking contest was held Monday evening at the Good Hope Methodist Church in Fayette County.

A boy and a girl representative from each of the ten counties participated.

Vanessa Mills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mills, Route 4, was selected as the first place winner in the girls division. Her speech entitled "Hot Subjects" really sold people on fire safety in the home.

Vanessa, as an area winner, will now have the opportunity to compete at the state 4-H safety speaking contest held during the Ohio State Fair.

Terry Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rogers, Route 1, Mt. Sterling, was selected as first alternate in the boys' division. His speech on "The Sunday Skier" warned of the many possibilities of accidents while skiing.

Art Dannecker, vice president of the Ohio Farmers Insurance Group, complimented each of the speakers for their interest in safety.

Cooler Air Fans Humid Mid-U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cooler weather fanned into sweltering sections of the mid-continent today and triggered occasionally violent thunderstorms from the Plains to the Great Lakes region.

Winds up to 70 miles an hour accompanied a storm that raced across Yankton, S.D., late Tuesday. Hailstones the size of baseballs bombarded an area 20 miles southwest of Sioux Falls.

Damage to crops, trees and livestock was reported southeast of Sioux Falls at the South Dakota community of Beresford. Trees and power lines were toppled by gusts near 80 miles an hour at Harcourt, in Central Iowa.

The storms at times yielded welcome rains to parched farmlands. Nearly 2 inches fell at Moline, Ill.

Scattered thundershowers also ranged across the Southeast during the night. Rainfall generally was light, but more than 2 inches drenched Charlottesville, Va.

In advance of the midcontinent cooling trend, temperatures soared well into the 90s again Tuesday through much of the Great Plains-Midwest region. Readings remained in the 80s overnight from the central Plains southward.

Clear and dry weather dominated the Far West. Slight warming moved into the northern Rockies.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 47 at Evanston, Wyo., to 97 at Needles, Calif., and Phoenix.

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The qualifications for being a candidate are not sufficient qualifications for being a public servant. "Republican gubernatorial candidate Roger Cloud said Tuesday at the University of Toledo.

DuPont Company Cited For Training Program

The DuPont Company has been named by the National Society for Programmed Instruction as the outstanding private organization of 1969-70 for its contribution to the advancement of instructional science and technology in the field of programmed instruction.

Dr. Arthur C. Santora, head of the industrial training service of the company's petroleum chemicals division, received the award at the NSPI Annual Convention at Anaheim, Calif. The plaque accompanying the award reads: "For their important commitment in adopting programmed instruction as a means of accomplishing industrial training on a large scale and for having made the output of their own efforts available to others."

Awards are presented annually to acknowledge and support individuals and groups who have performed outstanding work in one of ten categories judged by NSPI to be significant to the advancement of educational technology through the use of programmed instruction.

Abortion Reform Sought In Illinois

CHICAGO (AP) — Laws controlling the termination of pregnancies by abortion are the target for repeal by many groups and an Illinois group says it is the first to advocate a confidential woman-physician relationship.

Ralph Brown, president of The Illinois Citizens for the Medical Control of Abortion, said the organization is the first of its kind in the United States to adopt as its platform the making of termination of pregnancies as a private decision between the woman and her physician.

company personnel trained by the Engineering Services Division.

Used extensively within DuPont, the courses were made available in 1965 outside the company at nominal cost. Since then, over 3,500 companies, governmental agencies, and schools have used the 131 industrial craft skill and 25 safety training courses available from the industrial training service.

Compacts Only Bright Spot For Harried Auto Makers

DETROIT (AP) — American car buyers turned increasingly to compacts—particularly the Plymouth Valiant Duster—during the first half of 1970. Chrysler Corp., sold 103,252 Dusters as it led the industry in sales for the period despite the flop of the luxury Imperial, off 55.3 per cent from the first half of 1969.

The compact Valiant line, which includes the two-door Duster and the older four-door Valiant, improved its first half sales 177 per cent from 1969.

Next best improvement was posted by the Plymouth Barracuda, a redesigned specialty car, at 58 per cent. Third was the Ford Maverick at 37 per cent and fourth was the Dodge Dart with a 9.1 per cent gain.

All the big gainers were compacts.

Ford Mustang sales were off 48.5 per cent.

Compacts as a class increased their share of the total car market from 10.3 per cent in 1969 to 16.6 per cent this year. Total industry sales in the United States were down 9.5 per cent at 3,971,428.

Richard K. Brown, Chrysler-Plymouth division general manager, said Monday the success of the Duster reflected "the trend of consumer interest toward the more economical type car."

The Duster accounted for 83.7 per cent of the total Valiant line sales of 123,386 during the first half. A year ago—before introduction of the Duster—the Valiant sold 44,549 cars.

The Duster can be purchased for a low of $2,172 excluding delivery and state-local taxes. That's for the no-nonsense version with a six-cylinder engine.

Powerful engines, exotic paints and other options can drive the price way up.

While the Valiant line claimed the top percentage increase in sales, the Ford Maverick was No. 1 in compact sales with 204,397 and the Chevrolet Nova second with 145,454.

DuPont, for many years a leader in extensive employee training programs, began using programmed instruction techniques in 1959 to train many of its employees in basic industrial and safety skills. Programmed instruction is a teaching technique in which students can learn quickly, economically, and uniformly the basic facts about a given subject.

The company developed its own programmed instruction courses, which were given by company personnel trained by the Engineering Services Division.

Alumni Gifts Decline In Number, Rise In Amount Given

BY DAVID TOMLIN
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—College graduates approaching middle age are the ones most likely to lend financial support to their schools, and although the number willing to give is apparently declining, gifts are getting bigger.

According to fund raisers at a sampling of colleges and universities in Ohio, campus unrest and an uncertain economic situation have had their effect on alumni giving, but not enough to keep total contributions from rising annually.

The reason seems to be that while some alumni react to campus protests by closing their checkbooks in disgust, the remaining contributors feel that if their schools have fallen on difficult times, now is the time to give more.

The generally gloom economic outlook has also discouraged some graduates from making large contributions this year, but extra effort on the part of fund raisers in most cases has taken up the slack.

Receipts are up almost everywhere. William Heim, managing director of the Ohio State University development fund, said the school's 1969-70 drive met with considerably more success than last year.

He said this year's drive netted $6.3 million compared with $4.1 million in 1968-69. Alumni contributions make up about 40 per cent of total gifts.

Robert Jones, Cleveland State University development director reports gifts to the school up 10 per cent over last year.

Oberlin College, in the first year of a four-year campaign, has already raised 40 per cent of the $115 million it hopes to get.

At Case Western Reserve University alumni giving increased by $50,000 over last year's fund drive results.

Other schools reported their fund raising efforts yielded contributions equal to or exceeding those of the previous year. Fortunately for higher education, the willingness of alumni to give is apparently not affected enough by campus disturbances to alter total receipts.

"I'll get a letter from one alumnus who says, 'I think the kids are right, here's a little bit extra,'" Heim says, "and the next letter I pick up says, 'I think the kids are wrong, here's a little more money to help the university.'"

Heim reports the overall number of contributing alumni at OSU has decreased in the past year, but the size of individual gifts has risen.

"The ones who stop giving are the fringe donors who always give us trouble," he explains. "The most loyal and regular ones... are the ones who will stick with you or even raise their gifts during rough times."

This appeared to be the case at other schools. Case Western lost some gifts because alumni were upset over student dissidents, but total contributions continued to rise.

"Campus unrest has caused some alumni to stop giving," according to Paul Jones, associate director of development at the school, "while others have started or increased their giving for the same reason."

Ron Stephany, director of foundation and government relations at Ohio Wesleyan University, calls it "a record year" for angry letters from alumni who say they will no longer contribute to the university because of campus protests.

Apparently most of these come from small donors. Stephany says, because the impact on total funds received was negligible. Again, fewer contributors made up the difference with larger gifts.

The effect of the nation's uncertain economic health and the stock market slump on alumni contributions has been much like that of campus unrest; there is evidence that they have had some impact, but now enough to show up in the total receipts.

Heim says the market decline began to discourage some contributions to Ohio State beginning last January and probably will continue to do so "for at least another two quarters." He added, however, that the school was making up the difference by campaigning harder.

At Malone College, in Canton, fund raisers added more than 500 volunteers to their drive to compensate for slackened financial support from alumni due to the market slump.

The Ohio Foundation for Independent Colleges, which channels corporate donations to individual schools, reports that campus unrest and the market drop have diminished the number of contributions, but the size of the gifts and the overall total have increased.

Some schools have not felt the economic pinch at all in their annual quest for funds from their alumni. This has been the case at Otterbein College.

"I don't know why it hasn't hit us, but it just hasn't," remarks Richard Phlegier, assistant director of development.

"This has been one of our best years."

The fact that most schools are meeting or exceeding their fund raising goals, however, do not mean they are getting more money than they need. In most cases the extra funds are quickly absorbed by rising costs.

At Ohio State, for example, some of the new contributions have been made available for capital improvements and creation of new faculty posts, but Heim maintains the school "can't afford a drop" in the amount of money it can raise in gifts.

Funds raised at Capital University this year were up 15 per cent over 1968-69 and double what was raised five years ago. Yet almost all of the increase has to cover rises in operating expenses.

Increases in funds contributed to Case Western will be used to ease an operating deficit the university has had for a number of years.

Other schools report that contributions this year were sufficient to allow continuation of existing programs but no significant expansion beyond what had already been planned.

Given the slim margin on which most colleges and universities appear to be operating and the fact that the worst campus disruptions came in the final months of the fiscal 1969-70 fund raising year, next year's picture could be much different.

School administrators in Ohio are not making any predictions.

Alumni Gifts Decline In Number, Rise In Amount Given

BY DAVID TOMLIN
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—College graduates approaching middle age are the ones most likely to lend financial support to their schools, and although the number willing to give is apparently declining, gifts are getting bigger.

According to fund raisers at a sampling of colleges and universities in Ohio, campus unrest and an uncertain economic situation have had their effect on alumni giving, but not enough to keep total contributions from rising annually.

The reason seems to be that while some alumni react to campus protests by closing their checkbooks in disgust, the remaining contributors feel that if their schools have fallen on difficult times, now is the time to give more.

The generally gloom economic outlook has also discouraged some graduates from making large contributions this year, but extra effort on the part of fund raisers in most cases has taken up the slack.

Receipts are up almost everywhere. William Heim, managing director of the Ohio State University development fund, said the school's 1969-70 drive met with considerably more success than last year.

He said this year's drive netted $6.3 million compared with $4.1 million in 1968-69. Alumni contributions make up about 40 per cent of total gifts.

Robert Jones, Cleveland State University development director, reports gifts to the school up 10 per cent over last year.

Oberlin College, in the first year of a four-year campaign, has already raised 40 per cent of the $115 million it hopes to get.

At Case Western Reserve University alumni giving increased by $50,000 over last year's fund drive results.

Other schools reported their fund raising efforts yielded contributions equal to or exceeding those of the previous year. Fortunately for higher education, the willingness of alumni to give is apparently not affected enough by campus disturbances to alter total receipts.

"I'll get a letter from one alumnus who says, 'I think the kids are right, here's a little bit extra,'" Heim says, "and the next letter I pick up says, 'I think the kids are wrong, here's a little more money to help the university.'"

Heim reports the overall number of contributing alumni at OSU has decreased in the past year, but the size of individual gifts has risen.

"The ones who stop giving are the fringe donors who always give us trouble," he explains. "The most loyal and regular ones... are the ones who will stick with you or even raise their gifts during rough times."

This appeared to be the case at other schools. Case Western lost some gifts because alumni were upset over student dissidents, but total contributions continued to rise.

"Campus unrest has caused some alumni to stop giving," according to Paul Jones, associate director of development at the school, "while others have started or increased their giving for the same reason."

Ron Stephany, director of foundation and government relations at Ohio Wesleyan University, calls it "a record year" for angry letters from alumni who say they will no longer contribute to the university because of campus protests.

Apparently most of these come from small donors. Stephany says, because the impact on total funds received was negligible. Again, fewer contributors made up the difference with larger gifts.

The effect of the nation's uncertain economic health and the stock market slump on alumni contributions has been much like that of campus unrest; there is evidence that they have had some impact, but now enough to show up in the total receipts.

Heim says the market decline began to discourage some contributions to Ohio State beginning last January and probably will continue to do so "for at least another two quarters." He added, however, that the school was making up the difference by campaigning harder.

At Malone College, in Canton, fund raisers added more than 500 volunteers to their drive to compensate for slackened financial support from alumni due to the market slump.

The Ohio Foundation for Independent Colleges, which channels corporate donations to individual schools, reports that campus unrest and the market drop have diminished the number of contributions, but the size of the gifts and the overall total have increased.

Some schools have not felt the economic pinch at all in their annual quest for funds from their alumni. This has been the case at Otterbein College.

"I don't know why it hasn't hit us, but it just hasn't," remarks Richard Phleger, assistant director of development. "This has been one of our best years."

The fact that most schools are meeting or exceeding their fund raising goals, however, do not mean they are getting more money than they need. In most cases the extra funds are quickly absorbed by rising costs.

At Ohio State, for example, some of the new contributions have been made available for capital improvements and creation of new faculty posts, but Heim maintains the school "can't afford a drop" in the amount of money it can raise in gifts.

Funds raised at Capital University this year were up 15 per cent over 1968-69 and double what was raised five years ago. Yet almost all of the increase has to cover rises in operating expenses.

Increases in funds contributed to Case Western will be used to ease an operating deficit the university has had for a number of years.

Other schools report that contributions this year were sufficient to allow continuation of existing programs but no significant expansion beyond what had already been planned.

Given the slim margin on which most colleges and universities appear to be operating and the fact that the worst campus disruptions came in the final months of the fiscal 1969-70 fund raising year, next year's picture could be much different.

School administrators in Ohio are not making any predictions.

Kentucky Accident Fatal To Ohioan

PINEVILLE, Ky. (AP)—John Clayton Lowery, 52, Mid-dlesboro, and Nellie Walden, 53, Dayton, Ohio, were killed and one critically injured in a head on collision Tuesday on U. S. 119 in Bell County.

State Police said Melissa Walden, 3, Mrs. Walden's grand-daughter, was critically hurt and taken to a Knoxville, Tenn., hospital. Mrs. Walden's husband, Leroy, was hospitalized here.

Dear Abby: Search For Marriage Somewhere Else!

DEAR ABBY: My brother asked me to write to you to see if you can help him get any closer to marriage with his girl friend of 10 years—I'll call her "Zelda."

Zelda loves the big city and my brother likes the quiet of the countryside. Zelda doesn't come alive until 10 p.m., and at that hour my brother is ready for bed.

Even though they live 300 miles apart, they see each other on weekends and holidays. (My brother flies his own plane.)

Zelda is jealous of anyone who looks at him twice, but she doesn't care for sex herself. (She was in a concentration camp when she was young.) My brother would like a family, but since he is 40 and Zelda is 43 and they aren't married yet, that looks doubtful. What do you think, Abby?

HIS SISTER
DEAR SISTER: I think if your brother wants marriage, he should look for someone who likes the quiet of the countryside, sex, and won't take 10 years to make up her mind. A 40-year-old man who flies his own plane should have no trouble landing a GIRL.

DEAR ABBY: I am a middle-aged professional woman. Several months ago a person whom I considered to be a loyal friend accused me of repeating some confidential information she told me about another person. I did not repeat the information, but I know who did, and if I were to tell my friend who repeated it, she would be terribly upset.

My friend just assumes that I am the guilty one, and she refuses to believe otherwise. This has hurt me deeply.

It is impossible to communicate with someone who has a closed mind. Is there any way I can reach this friend? I want to set her straight to clear myself, but in so doing I will have to put someone else on the spot.

Set Hearing For Juvenile In Murder

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A hearing is scheduled next Wednesday to determine whether 17-year-old Dennis Wimer stands trial as an adult or a juvenile in the slaying of a 71-year-old woman neighbor in Le Roy Township.

Juvenile Court Judge John M. Parks announced plans Tuesday for the hearing.

However, Wimer's attorney, Bernstein, said he may ask for a continuance because he will be tied up with a trial starting Monday in Lake County Common Pleas Court.

The attorney filed a motion in juvenile court for psychiatric examination for Wimer.

Wimer is accused of killing Florence Van Amburgh, a widow whose body was found last week at the bottom of a wooded hill about five miles from her home. She had been stabbed and shot.

Wimer is charged with three counts of delinquency in connection with first-degree murder, abduction of Mrs. Van Amburgh and assaulting a deputy sheriff.

Women Protest Longer Skirts With Parade

MIAMI (AP) — One sign read, "Up Your Midi." Another said, "Things Go Better with Minis." And about 50 high-heeled women marched in a Miami shopping center to protest plunging skirts.

"I hated the midalf look in 1946 when I was 24 and despise it now," 48-year-old Ann Pollard said as she marched with her 17-year-old daughter, Nancy.

There were dissenters. "My gosh, those old ladies should be at home," said Jackie Patterson, a 23-year-old observer who wore a midi. "It's disgusting to stand here and watch their varicose veins. I never wore minis because I don't have the figure for them."

Ohio Officials Probe Tax Returns

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio tax officials have in the past — and may again — checked federal income tax returns to determine who pays state taxes on intangible property.

The last such check was in 1968 when a select group of state tax officers microfilmed 75,000 federal income tax returns.

Jack W. Cook, former taxation department employee who directed the last microfilming, said 300,000 pictures or four per tax return were made in 1968.

Charles Dozer, in charge of the department's district activities, said no checks were conducted in 1969 because of the department's heavy work load. He added that no checks have been done so far in 1970.

The decision on the time and number of returns for copying is in the hands of Tax Commissioner G. W. Porterfield, who said no decision has been made for 1970.

Porterfield said less than 50 of the department's 650 employees have access to federal income tax returns.

"The returns are not general information," he said. "Only a few people are authorized to work with the Internal Revenue Service."

Officials said the purpose of copying returns is to compare intangible tax reports on the state level with those in the federal return.

According to Cook, most of the checks were done on individuals reporting high dividend and interest income. He said some checks were done on partnerships, unincorporated businesses and corporations in Ohio to determine assets, depreciation and inventory figures.

"We are not interested in a person's income," Porterfield explained. "We are interested in business returns to compare their federal figure with our state figures."

General Tele Names New Plant Superintendent

William Lanman of Circleville Route 2 has been promoted to plant supervisor in charge of installation and maintenance for the Circleville exchange of General Telephone Co. of Ohio.

Lanman started with General as an installer-repairman in December, 1967. He also held positions as a switchman and cable splicer.

He moves up to his new supervisory post after having served as an engineering assistant in the plant department since March, 1969.

Dozer said copying federal returns is "worth our time" in finding differences between state and federal returns.

Cook recalled, "We sent eight or nine to Cincinnati and ten to 14 to Cleveland (IRS centers.) The crews were handled with close supervision so no one could pull out information from returns."

"Employees went through a clearance check by the tax department. We selected good people with good records."

Porterfield said employees working with federal returns are not bonded.

"Only designated people have access to IRS records," Porterfield said. "And IRS always knows them."

He said, "Never to my knowledge have any other state of ficials asked for copies of federal returns. Even if they did, it would not be permitted."

Ohio is one of 30 states that have agreements with IRS to share tax information. Porterfield said Ohio's agreement with IRS is 25 to 30 years old.

Dozer explained that federal officials are mostly interested in sales and refunds on state tax returns.

Gilligan Campaigns In Mercer County

CELINA, Ohio (AP)—John J. Gilligan said here today all Ohioans are affected by the severe problems prevalent in larger cities.

"All of us are involved when precious state resources must be channeled into crisis after crisis in education, in crime control, in pollution," the Democratic candidate for governor said in a campaign stop.

CBMC Sets Meeting

Local Horse Wins At Scioto Downs

Red Meadow Byrd, owned by Frank Bowling of Circleville, won the ninth race at Scioto Downs Tuesday.

The chestnut gelding was piloted by Lloyd Dillon and covered the mile in 2:06.

Mutuel was $5.60, $3, $2.40.

for the Bingman crowd, the only extra base hit of the tilt.

Purina collected 12 hits to tally 12 runs for their third win of the season in nine encounters.

Last time the Purina clan and the Herald clan feuded, the game ended in protest and is to be replayed later in the season. Both teams have a 3-5-1 record.

George Wagner and Tom Hardgarger hit triples for the Herald offense.

Herb Sturgill was most of the story of the Elks win over the Legion. Sturgill was the winning hurler whiffing seven batters, walking one and allowing six hits.

Sturgill also nailed a round-tripper, a triple and a double in three trips to the plate.

RANDY Cardelbaugh tagged three for four at the plate while Bret Cristy was two for three for the winners.

Ty Burns connected with a homer for the Legions only extra base hit of the game.

Dan Marshall suffered the loss on the hill for the Legion.

FOP Squeaks To 8th Win In Overtime

FOP edged Circle Auto Parts, 9-6, to keep their perfect 8-0 record for the season and a one game lead in the mini league.

In another fray in the Mosquito loop, Hill's topped Hummel and Plum, 23-3, for their third victory in eight tilts.

The CAP team, who has won only one game this season, gave the league front-runners a real battle losing in the first overtime inning. The Auto Parts group was ahead in the fourth stanza, 6-5, but gave up one run in the top of the sixth and three counters in the seventh.

Kevin Woltz, John Dean, Paul Brown and Pat Poorman teamed up on the mound for the win. The FOP hurlers gave up only three hits, walking nine and whiffing 13 would-be hitters.

GEORGE Johnson and John Fuller were assigned the pitching duties for the CAP "9." The twosome allowed eight hits and nine walks while fanning 11 batters.

For the winning club, Rick LeMaster nailed a three-sacker and Pat Poorman collected two two-basers. John Davis tagged a double for the CAP team.

Jim Brown tossed Hill's third winning effort of the season. Brown teamed up with Tony Bobbitt and was touched for six hits while striking out nine batters.

Terry Imler and Davis shared the work load on the mound for the Insurancemen. Together they breezed by seven would-be hitters, but allowed the Hill clan 15 hits.

Bobbitt was three for three at the plate with a double for the winners while Tony Shaffer, Brown and Greg Woods notched doubles.

Stoutsville Nips Laurelville In Tri County LL

Rick Brown smashed a two-run triple in the bottom of the sixth to give Stoutsville a 7-6 victory over Laurelville in a Tri County Little League major clash.

After Stoutsville had jumped off to a 5-0 lead Laurelville rallied to take a 6-5 margin which held up until Brown came through with his big base rap and a Stoutsville win.

Cloyce Hartley hurled the win allowing six hits, four walks and whiffed 11.

Anderson and Unger were on the mound for Laurelville giving up seven hits, five walks and struck out four.

Hartley and Willie Crites rapped two hits each for Stoutsville and Mike Cassill added a two bagger. Ash and Daubenmire had two hits apiece and Johnson contributed a double for the Laurelville squad.

Logan Elm Wins Ninth Straight

Logan Elm overpowered Stoutsville, 12-2, for its ninth straight win in the Tri County Pony League.

The victory came behind the strong four hit pitching of Derek Morris who walked three and struck out 12 Stoutsville swingers.

Mark Justus and John Mead had three hits each, Mike Holbrook added a triple and Gary Francis and Marty Fullen contributed doubles to the Logan Elm plate barrage.

Rex Riddle had a triple and Doug Fausnaugh a double for the lads from Stoutsville.

Stoutsville Wins Tri Mosquito Tilt

Stoutsville scored four runs in the fourth inning to edge Washington, 5-4, in a Tri County Mosquito League contest.

Mark Morrison and Brent Smith shared pitching chores for Stoutsville, allowing one hit, walking seven and fanning 10.

Seimer handled mound duties for Washington giving up three hits, walking eight and striking out nine.

Morrison had a triple and single and Casey Kern added a single to account for the Stoutsville hits. Seimer came through with the lone base hit for Washington.

NL Wins Tight All-Star Game, 5-4

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
CINCINNATI (AP) — When someone remarked, on the eve of baseball's 41st All-Star Game, that fans' interest in the inter-league tussle has been hyped this year, someone else said it was about time the players got interested.

Tuesday night, 56 of the major leagues' finest certified their interest... and then some... in a grueling, 12-inning struggle at muggy Riverfront Stadium.

When it was over, the National League's finest pitched a 5-4 victory, their eighth in a row and sixth in as many extra-inning duels during the long series. But any talk of lethargy, or cop-outs was stilled after:

Pete Rose scored the winning run in a jarring collision at the plate with Ray Fosse that sent the Cleveland catcher to a hospital with a shoulder injury and left the Cincinnati flash nursing a painful charley horse.

Pittsburgh's Roberto Clemente, castigated for suggesting he might pass up the game because of a pain in the neck, showed up, played and capped the Nationals' tying three-run rally in the ninth with a sacrifice fly.

Baltimore's Dave Johnson, hobbled by a damaged knee, labored through eight innings at second base for the Americans on the hot and hard Astro turf that blankets the Reds' new park.

Southpaw Claude Osteen of Los Angeles, who had worked eight innings three days earlier, got into the game as a pinch runner in the NL ninth and wound up pitching three scoreless frames to earn the victory. President Nixon, who joined the crowd shortly before game time, stayed to the finish. So did Hank Aaron, Willie Mays, Frank Robinson and all the superstars who were out of their respective line-ups after the early innings.

The only drop-out was busty Morganna Roberts, the exotic dancer and compulsive player-kisser, who made a promised foray onto the playing field in the first inning... and was promptly hauled off to jail.

Jim Hickman of the Chicago Cubs and Billy Grabarkewitz of Los Angeles two of the NL's top hitters who were overlooked in the fans' first balloting for starting spots in 13 years, shared the spotlight with Rose in the climactic 12th.

Rose, hitless in three previous All-Star appearances and a two-time strikeout victim Tuesday night, stroked a single with two out in the 12th and took second on Grabarkewitz' single. Hickman then lined a single to center and Rose barreled into Fosse before toeing the plate.

"It was a bang-bang play" said National League Manager Gil Hodges of the New York Mets. "It took someone like Pete to bull his way in there."

The All-Star Game has been the setting for crippling injuries to several top players in past years, but Rose plays every game this same way.

"If I can change the score, I'm not going to worry about getting hurt," he said.

Boston's Carl Yastrzemski, named the game's most valuable player after cracking four hits to tie the All-Star mark, delivered a run-scoring single in the sixth, giving the AL a 1-0 lead.

Fosse contributed a run-producing sacrifice fly in the seventh and Brooks Robinson, Baltimore's 14-year All-Star fixture, drilled a two-run triple in the eighth.

Trailing 4-1 in the ninth, the favored Nationals finally exploded. San Francisco catcher Dick Dietz provided the spark with a leadoff homer. Singles by Bud Harrelson of New York, Joe Morgan of Houston and Willie McCovey of San Francisco brought home another run and Clemente tied it with a long fly to center.

Osteen then held the AL at bay until his teammates broke through again in the 12th at the expense of Clyde Wright, California's no-hit left-hander.

"I didn't dream of getting three innings in," Osteen said. "I figured I might be used to pitch to one batter. But I could have pitched another inning if I had to."

Neither Hodges nor American League pilot Earl Weaver of the Orioles was surprised at the tightness of the game. "You've got the best pitchers going against the best hitters and the pitchers can handle the hitters if they're getting the ball where they want it."

"We beat them for eight innings," said Weaver. "but that doesn't count. It took them 12 to beat us. I'd call that pretty even."

President Nixon, a partisan Washington Senators' rooter, watched the duel from a box near the NL dugout.

"Maybe if he had sat on our side, we'd have won for a change," said Weaver.

The victory gave the National League, unbeaten since 1962, a 23-17-1 edge in a series once dominated by the American.

"They'll never beat us," said NL President Emeritus Warren Giles.

"I'm sure they'll win one. If they keep showing up," Hodges countered. "And I'm positive they'll keep showing up."

Yaz Happy With Artificial Turf

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer
CINCINNATI (AP) — Carl Yastrzemski, the All-Star Game's most valuable player, thinks artificial playing surfaces will be a boon for hitters and has the evidence to back his claim.

The Boston Red Sox star tied a mark belonging to Ducky Medwick and Ted Williams. Medwick rapped four hits for the NL in 1937 and Williams four for the AL in 1946.

His four hits on Riverfront Stadium's Astro turf tied the mark belonging to Ducky Medwick and Ted Williams. Medwick rapped four hits for the NL in 1937 and Williams four for the AL in 1946.

"I think it (artificial) is great for the hitter," Yaz said. "It's got to help some guys 30 points on their batting average and a lot of others at least 15 points."

"You can't believe the speed the ball picks up when it hits the surface," he said.

The Red Sox ace looked like a kissing target of exotic dancer Morganna Roberts when she bounced onto the field in the first inning. "If she was coming for me," Yaz said, "I was going to run over to the President's box."

Yaz wound up with his first single and the 44 1/2-23-37 Morganna faced a disorderly conduct charge today in the court after the incident.

Carl had an explanation for the AL's eighth straight loss to the NL. "We had scoring opportunities and, bang, a base hit."

Ex-National League President Warren Giles hustled into the National clubhouse, congratulated Manager Gil Hodges and said, "They'll never beat us."

Jim Hickman, whose single drove home Pete Rose with the deciding run, said, "I was just trying to hit the ball anywhere."

Kiwanis Blanks Lindsey, 9-0

Kiwanis zipped Lindsey's Bakery, 9-0, in the only Babe Ruth action of the night Tuesday for their third win in seven starts.

Don Valentine was the winning pitcher tossing a one hitter with 11 strikeouts and three bases on balls. Valentine held off the bakers offensive until the top of the seventh inning when Doug Spangler ruined his no hitter with a single.

Rock Davis nailed a triple for the winners and Bill Halstenburg tallied a two-baser.

Spangler and Greg Hoskins were assigned the pitching duties for the Lindsey crowd. They allowed 14 hits and five walks while whiffing four would-be hitters.

Mrs. John Whitacre Leads Golf Clash

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — "I guess I got even today," Mrs. John Whitacre Jr. of Canton said Tuesday after she ousted Helen Kirkland of Cadiz from the Ohio Women's Amateur golf tournament.

"Helen bounced me out of contention at Manfield last year," Mrs. Whitacre recalled.

Mrs. Whitacre, a two-time state amateur champion, edged Miss Kirkland, last year's runner-up, 2 and 1 in the first round of match play on the Heather Downs course.

Laurelville Takes County Minor Tilt

Laurelville squeaked by Stoutsville, 3-2, in a Tri-County Little League minor fray.

Roger Moore was the winning hurler. He gave up five hits, one walk and struck out 10.

Cave took the loss for the Stoutsville squad allowing five hits, one walk and whiffed six.

WINDOW AND STORM DOOR GLASS REPLACED

GORDON'S

Est. 1924 — 474-5631

It was a fast ball (from Clyde Wright) down.

Rose barreled into Cleveland rookie catcher Ray Fosse for the winning run and both were hurt. Rose suffered a charley horse above his left knee and Fosse an injured left shoulder. Winning pitcher Claude Osteen worked three innings after going in as a pinch runner and was a happy southpaw.

"I've got to cut out this box score and show it to my teammates," the Los Angeles Dodgers' hurler said, referring to the pinch running and pitching stint.

"They call me 'Grand Dad.' They're always kidding me about how old I am."

Hodges wasn't particularly surprised that the AL pitchers stopped the power-laden NL batters for the eight innings.

"Here you've got the best pitchers against the best hitters and the pitchers can contain the hitters if they get the ball where they want it. That's what the AL pitchers were doing most of the night," he said.

Pete Rose Doesn't Worry About Injuries If He Wins

By JOHN CHACE

Associated Press Sports Writer
CINCINNATI (AP) — Pete Rose bounced back from two strike-three counts and wound up with a knockdown.

The peppery Cincinnati outfielder bowled into home plate in the 12th inning of the major league All-Star Game Tuesday night with the run that gave the National League a 5-4 victory. But Rose suffered a charley horse on the play and injured a new friend of his—catcher Ray Fosse of Cleveland.

"He was doing his job but it was my job to score," Rose said in the clubhouse as he lay on the training table with his left knee packed in ice. "If I can change the score, I'm not going to worry about getting hurt."

But Rose, the National League batting champion in 1968 and 1969, was concerned about Fosse, who visited his home Monday night along with pitcher Sam McDowell of the Indians.

"We just talked baseball and Sam played the guitar," Rose said about the visit, joking that the two American League players were trying to keep him up late. "They're both great guys."

Rose said that he called the American League clubhouse to see how Fosse was but he had been taken to Christ Hospital here for X rays for a shoulder injury.

Rose, who had singled and scrambled home on a two-out base-hit by Jim Hickman of Chicago, contended that he was not embarrassed by striking out twice after entering the game in the fifth inning.

"I think you've got to give their pitchers (American League's) credit. It's tough to hit good pitching when you are not used to what they could throw. Hickman got a hit in the last inning, too, and he had struck out twice."

Hickman, who revealed he had never been more nervous in his life than in the 12th inning of the contest, said, "I saw right away that it would be a base hit and felt if anybody could score it would be him (Rose)."

Manager Gil Hodges agreed. "It took someone like Pete to bull his way in there."

Although Rose said he had decided to go all the way, he knew third base coach Leo Durocher "would have spiked me if I had stopped. He was right on my back."

Smart Lobell's appearance Thursday night marks a return engagement with Gene Riegler's outstanding Young Turk.

In their last race, Young Turk nosed out Smart Lobell in 2:03.4. Owned by the Little Six Stable of Findlay, Ohio, Young Turk has three wins and two seconds in only five starts this year.

Marc Ferguson has another speedster in this division with Tex Ranger and Harvey Carter Jr. of Medina, Ohio, has assigned George Mueller to handle the reins on his promising bay son of Knight Time, Success Hill.

Bobbitt was three for three at the plate with a double for the winners while Tony Shaffer, Brown and Greg Woods notched doubles.

Stoutsville Nips Laurelville In Tri County LL

Rick Brown smashed a two-run triple in the bottom of the sixth to give Stoutsville a 7-6 victory over Laurelville in a Tri County Little League major clash.

After Stoutsville had jumped off to a 5-0 lead Laurelville rallied to take a 6-5 margin which held up until Brown came through with his big base rap and a Stoutsville win.

Cloyce Hartley hurled the win allowing six hits, four walks and whiffed 11.

Anderson and Unger were on the mound for Laurelville giving up seven hits, five walks and struck out four.

Hartley and Willie Crites rapped two hits each for Stoutsville and Mike Cassill added a two bagger. Ash and Daubenmire had two hits apiece and Johnson contributed a double for the Laurelville squad.

Logan Elm Wins Ninth Straight

Logan Elm overpowered Stoutsville, 12-2, for its ninth straight win in the Tri County Pony League.

The victory came behind the strong four hit pitching of Derek Morris who walked three and struck out 12 Stoutsville swingers.

Mark Justus and John Mead had three hits each, Mike Holbrook added a triple and Gary Francis and Marty Fullen contributed doubles to the Logan Elm plate barrage.

Rex Riddle had a triple and Doug Fausnaugh a double for the lads from Stoutsville.

Stoutsville Wins Tri Mosquito Tilt

Stoutsville scored four runs in the fourth inning to edge Washington, 5-4, in a Tri County Mosquito League contest.

Mark Morrison and Brent Smith shared pitching chores for Stoutsville, allowing one hit, walking seven and fanning 10.

Seimer handled mound duties for Washington giving up three hits, walking eight and striking out nine.

Morrison had a triple and single and Casey Kern added a single to account for the Stoutsville hits. Seimer came through with the lone base hit for Washington.

U.S., West German Track Meet Slated

STUTTGART, Germany (AP) — Youth and speed clash with experience and finesse as a two-night track and field meet between the United States and West Germany gets underway Stadium.

West German women, clearly superior in the weights and field events, are favored to hand a teen-ager-dominated U.S. women's squad their second loss in Germany in two years.

NL Wins Tight All-Star Game, 5-4

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
CINCINNATI (AP) — When someone remarked, on the eve of baseball's 41st All-Star Game, that fans' interest in the inter-league tussle has been pood this year, someone else said it was about time the players got interested.

Tuesday night, 56 of the major leagues' finest certified their interest... and then some... in a grueling, 12-inning struggle at muggy Riverfront Stadium.

When it was over, the National League had pocketed a 5-4 victory, their eighth in a row and sixth in as many extra-inning duels during the long series.

But any talk of lethargy, or copouts was still after.

Pete Rose scored the winning run in a jarring collision at the plate with Ray Fosse that sent the Cleveland catcher to a hospital with a shoulder injury and left the Cincinnati flash nursing a painful charley horse.

Pittsburgh's Roberto Clemente, castigated for suggesting he might pass up the game because of a pain in the neck, showed up, played and capped the Nationals' tying three-run rally in the ninth with a sacrifice fly.

Baltimore's Dave Johnson, hobbled by a damaged knee, labored through eight innings at second base for the Americans on the hot and hard Astroturf that blankets the Reds' new park.

Southpaw Claude Osteen of Los Angeles, who had worked eight innings three days earlier, got into the game as a pinch runner in the NL ninth and wound up pitching three scoreless frames to earn the victory. President Nixon, who joined the crowd shortly before game time, stayed to the finish. So did Hank Aaron, Willie Mays, Frank Robinson and all the superstars who were out of their respective line-ups after the early innings.

The only drop-out was busty Morganna Roberts, the exotic dancer and compulsive player-kisser, who made a promised foray onto the playing field in the first inning... and was promptly hauled off to jail.

Jim Hickman of the Chicago Cubs and Billy Grabarkewitz of Los Angeles two of the NL's top hitters who were overlooked in the fans' first balloting for starting spots in 13 years, shared the spotlight with Rose in the climactic 12th.

Rose, hitless in three previous All-Star appearances and a two-time strikeout victim Tuesday night, stroked a single with two out in the 12th and took second on Grabarkewitz' single. Hickman then lined a single to center and Rose barreled into Fosse before toeing the plate.

"It was a bang-bang play" said National League Manager Gil Hodges of the New York Mets. "It took someone like Pete to bull his way in there."

The All-Star Game has been the setting for crippling injuries to several top players in past years, but Rose plays every game this same way.

"If I can change the score, I'm not going to worry about getting hurt," he said.

Boston's Carl Yastrzemski, named the game's most valuable player after cracking four hits to tie the All-Star mark, delivered a run-scoring single in the sixth, giving the AL a 1-0 lead.

Fosse contributed a run-producing sacrifice fly in the seventh and Brooks Robinson, Baltimore's 14-year All-Star fixture, drilled a two-run triple in the eighth.

Trailing 4-1 in the ninth, the favored Nationals finally exploded. San Francisco catcher Dick Dietz provided the spark with a leadoff homer. Singles by Bud Harrelson of New York, Joe Morgan of Houston and Willie McCovey of San Francisco brought home another run and Clemente tied it with a long fly to center.

Osteen then held the AL at bay until his teammates broke through again in the 12th at the expense of Clyde Wright, California's no-hit left-hander.

"I didn't dream of getting three innings in," Osteen said. "I figured I might be used to pitch to one batter. But I could have pitched another inning if I had to."

Neither Hodges nor American League pilot Earl Weaver of the Orioles was surprised at the tightness of the game. "You've got the best pitchers going against the best hitters and the pitchers can handle the hitters if they're getting the ball where they want it."

"We beat them for eight innings," said Weaver. "but that doesn't count. It took them 12 to beat us. I'd call that pretty even."

President Nixon, a partisan Washington Senators' rooster, watched the duel from a box near the NL dugout.

"Maybe if he had sat on our side, we'd have won for a change," said Weaver.

The victory gave the National League, unbeaten since 1962, a 23-17-1 edge in a series once dominated by the American. "They'll never beat us," said NL President Emeritus Warren Giles.

"I'm sure they'll win one. If they keep showing up," Hodges countered. "And I'm positive they'll keep showing up."

Yaz Happy With Artificial Turf

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer
CINCINNATI (AP) — Carl Yastrzemski, the All-Star Game's most valuable player, thinks artificial playing surfaces will be a boon for hitters and has the evidence to back his claim.

The Boston Red Sox star tied an All-Star baseball record with four hits—three singles and a double—and played all 12 innings Tuesday night for the losing American League in the game won by the National League 5-4.

His four hits on Riverfront Stadium's Astroturf tied the mark belonging to Ducky Medwick and Ted Williams. Medwick rapped four hits for the NL in 1937 and Williams four for the AL in 1946.

"I think it (artificial) is great for the hitter," Yaz said. "It's got to help some guys 30 points on their batting average and a lot of others at least 15 points."

"You can't believe the speed the ball picks up when it hits the surface," he said.

The Red Sox ace looked like a kissing target of exotic dancer Morganna Roberts when she bounced onto the field in the first inning. "If she was coming for me," Yaz said, "I was going to run over to the President's box."

Yaz wound up with his first single and the 44½-23-37 Morganna faced a disorderly conduct charge today in the court after the incident.

Carl had an explanation for the AL's eighth straight loss to the NL. "We had scoring opportunities and, bang, a base hit."

Ex-National League President Warren Giles hustled into the National clubhouse, congratulated Manager Gil Hodges and said, "They'll never beat us." Jim Hickman, whose single drove home Pete Rose with the deciding run, said, "I was just trying to hit the ball anywhere."

It was a fast ball (from Clyde Wright) down."

Rose barreled into Cleveland rookie catcher Ray Fosse for the winning run and both were hurt. Rose suffered a charley horse above his left knee and Fosse an injured left shoulder.

Winning pitcher Claude Osteen worked three innings after going in as a pinch runner and was a happy southpaw.

"I've got to cut out this box score and show it to my teammates," the Los Angeles Dodgers' hurler said, referring to the pinch running and pitching stint.

"They call me 'Grand Dad,' They're always kidding me about how old I am."

Hodges wasn't particularly surprised that the AL pitchers stopped the power-laden NL batters for the eight innings.

"Here you've got the best pitchers against the best hitters and the pitchers can contain the hitters if they get the ball where they want it. That's what the AL pitchers were doing most of the night," he said.

A writer mentioned to American League Manager Earl Weaver that the Nationals had beaten the AL in extra innings for the sixth straight time.

"We just can't beat them period," he said. It took them 12 innings though and I'd call that pretty even."

Wright, the victim of three straight NL hits in the 12th, said, "They just hit the damn pitches for base hits. You hit three in a row and you get beat."

"I didn't dream of getting three innings in," Osteen said. "I figured I might be used to pitch to one batter. But I could have pitched another inning if I had to."

Neither Hodges nor American League pilot Earl Weaver of the Orioles was surprised at the tightness of the game. "You've got the best pitchers going against the best hitters and the pitchers can handle the hitters if they're getting the ball where they want it."

Woman Trackster Nears Dash Record

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP) — Chi Cheng, the fleet-footed Formosa-born California resident, was clocked Tuesday at 11.1 seconds for the 100-meter dash for women.

Her time in an international track and field meet here was the fastest this year for 100 meters and one-tenth of a second shy of the world record.

Miss Cheng also won the 100-meter hurdles in 13.1.

Pete Rose Doesn't Worry About Injuries If He Wins

By JOHN CHACE
Associated Press Sports Writer
CINCINNATI (AP) — Pete Rose bounced back from two strike-three counts and wound up with a knockdown.

The peppery Cincinnati outfielder bowled into home plate in the 12th inning of the major league All-Star Game Tuesday night with the run that gave the National League a 5-4 victory.

But Rose suffered a charley horse on the play and injured a new friend of his—catcher Ray Fosse of Cleveland.

"He was doing his job but it was my job to score," Rose said in the clubhouse as he lay on the training table with his left knee packed in ice. "If I can change the score, I'm not going to worry about getting hurt."

But Rose, the National League batting champion in 1968 and 1969, was concerned about Fosse, who visited his home Monday night along with pitcher Sam McDowell of the Indians.

"We just talked baseball and Sam played the guitar," Rose said about the visit, joking that the two American League players were trying to keep him up late.

"They're both great guys," Rose said that he called the American League clubhouse to see how Fosse was but he had been taken to Christ Hospital here for X rays for a shoulder injury.

Rose, who had singled and scrambled home on a two-out base-hit by Jim Hickman of Chicago, contended that he was not embarrassed by striking out twice after entering the game in the fifth inning.

"I think you've got to give their pitchers (American League's) credit. It's tough to hit good pitching when you are not used to what they could throw. Hickman got a hit in the last inning, too, and he had struck out twice."

Hickman, who revealed he had never been more nervous in his life than in the 12th inning of the contest, said, "I saw right away that it would be a base hit and felt if anybody could score it would be him (Rose)."

Manager Gil Hodges agreed. "It took someone like Pete to bull his way in there."

Although Rose said he had decided to go all the way, he knew third base coach Leo Durocher "would have spiked me if I had stopped. He was right on my back."

Scioto Downs Draws Large Field For Challenge Stakes

A purse of $17,000 has attracted twenty-five 2-year-old pacers in the Challenge Stakes Thursday night at Scioto Downs.

As usual the huge field forced the race into two divisions with each division going for $5,500 and one of the Challenge Stakes trophies.

In the first division, the Gold Creek Farm of York, South Carolina has the slight early choice in Ranger Express, the bay son of Ranger Hanover, trained and driven by the veteran Buck Minniear. In five starts this year, the promising juvenile has posted four victories, the fastest in 2:08 at Scioto Downs.

Challenging Ranger Express in the first division is a solid one-two punch from the Gene Riegler stable. Heading the stable entry is Sly Heel, a son of Tar Heel, owned by John Cutrone of Lincolnwood, Illinois. He has finished in the money in all six starts this year with three wins, two seconds and one third with a mile mark of 2:03.1. The second half of the Riegler entry in the first division is Pop Hanover, also by Tar Heel, with a career mark of 2:08.4 at Scioto.

Phil Siebold, currently enjoying his greatest year as a reinsman at Scioto, has a solid contender in Lee S, a son of the trotting sire Saboteur, owned by Ken Fuson of De Graff, Ohio. With two wins to his credit this year, Lee S has a mark in 2:04.1.

Marc Ferguson has a fine entry in Keystone Journal, a son of Bye Bye Byrd, owned by the Double Z and P stable of Middletown, Ohio, with a record of 2:05.1.

In the second division, the sport's Hall of Fame member, Wayne "Curly" Smart will drive the highly touted Smart Lobell, the son of Overkrick, owned by Alan Leavitt of New York.

Smart Lobell's appearance Thursday night marks a return engagement with Gene Riegler's outstanding Young Turk. In their last race, Young Turk nosed out Smart Lobell in 2:03.4. Owned by the Little Six Stable of Findlay, Ohio, Young Turk has three wins and two seconds in only five starts this year.

Marc Ferguson has another speedster in this division with Tex Ranger and Harvey Carter Jr. of Medina, Ohio, has assigned George Mueller to handle the reins on his promising bay son of Knight Time, Success Hill.

Smart Lobell's appearance Thursday night marks a return engagement with Gene Riegler's outstanding Young Turk. In their last race, Young Turk nosed out Smart Lobell in 2:03.4. Owned by the Little Six Stable of Findlay, Ohio, Young Turk has three wins and two seconds in only five starts this year.

All-Star Grid Tilt May Be In Jeopardy

By BEN THOMAS
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The College All-Star Game may become a casualty of the deadlocked negotiations between National Football League owners and the NFL Players Association.

The NFLPA, in its second post-midnight statement in 24 hours, said early today that the College All-Stars, who've been practicing at Evanston, Ill., for the July 31 charity game at Chicago with the world champion Kansas City Chiefs, had voted unanimously to leave the official training camp.

The Dallas Times-Herald, meanwhile, in a dispatch from the Thousand Oaks, Calif., training camp of the Cowboys, said the NFLPA planned today to ask the owners' negotiating team to submit the contract dispute to a federal mediator. Agreement of both sides in a labor dispute to federal mediation is necessary.

In New York, an NFLPA spokesman indirectly confirmed the report by saying an announcement on the situation would probably be released in the early afternoon today.

The mediation proposals was to be presented to the owners committee headed by Tex Schramm of the Cowboys at today's closed-door negotiation session.

The NFLPA, through John Mackey of the Baltimore Colts, its president, said the organization had requested the All-Stars, all rookies from the various 26 NFL teams, to "consider leaving camp because of the owners' surprise lockout announced Monday."

A five-player committee of All-Stars, composed of Mike Reid, Mike McCoy, Steve Tannen, Cedric Hardman and Heisman Trophy winner Steve Owens, issued, through the NFLPA, a statement of its own: "Due to the fact that the Kansas City Chiefs' veterans are unable to practice, we have decided to discontinue our supervised practices. We fully realize that the College All-Star Game is played for the benefit of a fine charity and for this reason we have agreed to remain in Evanston if possible and continue unsupervised workouts in the hope that the current dispute between the NFLPA and NFL owners will soon be resolved."

Roused out of bed, Otto Graham, the All-Star coach, said he was unaware of the statement and couldn't say offhand what effect it could have on the game.

"If the players do discontinue supervised practices, then we'll have to talk the matter of the game over with the Tribune people."

Chicago Tribune Charities sponsors the annual Soldier Field classic, which kicks off the pro football exhibition season each summer.

There was no reaction from the Tribune.

Alex Karras of the Detroit Lions, it was learned, visited the All-Star players Tuesday and asked for their support.

The All-Star Committee said if the contract negotiations "should continue to a point where the playing of the game becomes impossible, we shall then report to our respective NFL teams."

Rookies not selected for the All-Star squad have been checking in at various team training sites this week. The camps are scheduled to continue opening through July 26 when Denver, last to report, begins drills.

Veterans on many teams are holding workouts on their own near the official training sites as they did two years ago when contract disputes delayed the official start of preseason drills. And, Mackey and his negotiating team say they've been running up 15-20 flights of stairs in their mid-Manhattan hotel during spare moments so they can get in shape.

The Dallas Times-Herald story, by sports writer Steve Perkins, quoted one of the player negotiators as saying the NFLPA has made six concessions during the talks "and the owners haven't moved once. This shows you which side is really interested in getting this season under way."

The player also told Perkins: "We are not going to move any more. The ballplayers are united. We are stronger this time than in 1968."

It was learned from NFLPA sources here that the NFLPA and the owners have reached accord on pay for exhibition games—a 15 per cent increase over the $350 paid the past two years. In turn, the players dropped a demand that NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle be declared a joint employer along with the owners.

The players had contended Rozelle represents the owners more than he does the players. As it was in 1968, the pension plan is the key to contract negotiation. The players, it was learned, first asked that an amount equal to 25 per cent of the total player payroll of the NFL be placed in the pension fund annually. They've since pared their demand $3 million to 16 per cent.

The NFLPA claims it has been told by owners that television income of the league will increase $10 million to $13 million in the next four years. But the owners, the players add, don't want to pass some of this along for the pension fund.

Dick Tiger, Griffith Meet In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Tiger is 40. He hasn't fought since last in 1966. He is a busybody with three wins in a row in 1970, including a decision over previously unbeaten Tom Bogs of Denmark in his own home town.

The two men have met only once—April 26, 1966. All three officials agreed Griffith had won Tiger's world middleweight title although many newsmen and Tiger—disputed.

Four years and many bouts later they fight again tonight in Madison Square Garden with no championship at stake and Tiger is favored.

Weight can be an important factor in this 10-round match to be carried on a special television network with the New York area blacked out. By ringtime at 10 p.m., EDT, Tiger may have a decisive edge in pounds although he is giving away at least eight years.

When they met in 1966, Griffith had moved up from the welterweight division and scaled but 150½. Tiger tortured himself to make 160.

After 15 rounds, referee Arthur Mercante scored it for Griffith 9-5-1 and judge Frank Forbes 7-8-2. Tony Castellano, the other judge, had it even in rounds 7-7-1 but gave it to Griffith on points 8-7, presumably because he floored Tiger for the first time in his career in the ninth round.

Pro Golf Greats On Hand For Philadelphia Classic

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pro golf's great names, headed by British Open champ Jack Nicklaus, return to the American tour this week as the Philadelphia Classic ushers in the start of the big money season.

The $150,000 event is the first leg on a seven-event swing that ranks as the richest in the game's history. Approximately $1.4 million is up for grabs.

Almost all of the leading tourists are on hand to make their bid for a share of it, in sharp contrast to the last two weeks when most of the game's top stars were in Scotland for the British Open.

So many of them are here, in fact, that there is no clear-cut favorite, though the awesome Nicklaus must be given consideration. Nicklaus, however, is having putting troubles, even though he won the British Open for the second time. He three-putted five times Saturday in the final round at Scotland when he and Doug Sanders finished in a tie.

Nicklaus and Sanders weren't expected until late today.

Among the early arrivals was controversial Dave Hill, the defending champion who left the tour two weeks ago suffering from exhaustion.

Garr Stars As Richmond Is Winner

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ralph Garr knows he shouldn't be in Richmond, but the problem is convincing the parent Atlanta Braves, who aren't in the market for another outfielder what with the likes of Rico Carty and Hank Aaron.

The speedy Garr slammed five hits Tuesday night, including a home run and a pair of doubles, as Richmond clobbered Rochester 15-2.

Also connecting for the circuit were Braves Hal Breeden, who slammed his 19th homer, and Darrell Evans, who chipped in with No. 14.

Red Wing starter John Montague suffered the loss, allowing six runs in four innings.

In the only other game Tuesday night, Syracuse made it 10 out of 12 against Tidewater with a 9-5 victory over the Tides.

Rob Gardner became the International League's first 10-game winner against two defeats and also pitched his 10th complete game.

Browns Open Training Camp For Rookies

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — The Cleveland Browns opened their 1970 training camp here Tuesday with 36 rookies taking part in drills.

Veteran players were prohibited from taking part in the workouts on an order issued Monday by football commissioner Pete Rozelle. Rozelle issued the order because of complications in contract negotiations between club owners and the Players Association.

Coach Blanton Collier said he two fastest rookies in camp were flanker Eugene Carter from San Diego State and cornerback Rickv Stevenson from Arizona. Both were timed in 4.6 over 40 yards.

The club's first three college draft choices, quarterback Mike Phipps from Purdue, defensive tackle Bob McKay from Texas and defensive end Joe Jones from Tennessee State, are not scheduled to report until after the College All-Star game on July 31.

Report Gain Of Cancer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Researchers have found that RNA—one of the master chemicals of life—has an important role all its own in promoting the processes of heredity and growth.

The findings open up new avenues for understanding the cause and possible prevention of cancer, the National Cancer Institute said Monday.

RNA and DNA are cellular nucleic acids considered controlling factors in life. Previous research indicated that RNA acted only as a secondary force, and at the signal of DNA in promoting growth, including cancer.

The cancer institute said three teams of scientists working separately found that certain viruses with an RNA core contain an enzyme or catalyst that reverses the usual pattern of genetic information channeling, making RNA the controlling factor.

While viruses long have been suspected as causes of some forms of cancer, none has been named the definite cause.

Among the early arrivals was controversial Dave Hill, the defending champion who left the tour two weeks ago suffering from exhaustion.

"I wouldn't be here if I wasn't the defending champion," said the tough, skinny character who appeared to be even lighter than his usual 155 pounds. "I'm afraid to step on the scales," he said.

"I've only played nine holes four times in the last two weeks, and I was in a car all the time. My legs are still weak."

Some of the top contenders for the $30,000 first prize, along with Nicklaus and Sanders, are leading money winner Lee Trevino, Frank Beard, Australian Bruce Devlin and Bob Lunn.

Masters champion Billy Casper said he was still bothered with a hand injury that knocked him off the tour for five weeks earlier in the year, but said he would compete.

In fact, all but three of the season's top 20 money winners are on hand.

Missing are Arnold Palmer, whose home course, Laurel Valley, will be the site of next week's National Four-Ball Championship, U.S. Open titleholder Tony Jacklin and Gary Player, who has returned to his South African home.

The site for the 72-hole test that begins Thursday is the rolling, 6,670-yard, par 72 White-march Country Club course.

Weight can be an important factor in this 10-round match to be carried on a special television network with the New York area blacked out. By ringtime at 10 p.m., EDT, Tiger may have a decisive edge in pounds although he is giving away at least eight years.

When they met in 1966, Griffith had just moved up from the welterweight division and scaled but 150½. Tiger tortured himself to make 160.

After 15 rounds, referee Arthur Mercante scored it for Griffith 9-5-1 and judge Frank Forbes 7-6-2. Tony Castellano, the other judge, had it even in rounds 7-7-1 but gave it to Griffith on points 8-7, presumably because he floored Tiger for the first time in his career in the ninth round.

Browns Open Training Camp For Rookies

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — The Cleveland Browns opened their 1970 training camp here Tuesday with 36 rookies taking part in drills.

Veteran players were prohibited from taking part in the workouts on an order issued Monday by football commissioner Pete Rozelle. Rozelle issued his order because of complications in contract negotiations between club owners and the Players Association.

Coach Blanton Collier said the two fastest rookies in camp were flanker Eugene Carter from San Diego State and cornerback Rick Stevenson from Arizona. Both were timed in 4.6 over 40 yards.

The club's first three college draft choices, quarterback Mike Phillips from Purdue, defensive tackle Bob McKay from Texas and defensive end Joe Jones from Tennessee State, are not scheduled to report until after the College All-Star game on July 31.

Report Gain Of Cancer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Researchers have found that RNA—one of the master chemicals of life—has an important role all its own in promoting the processes of heredity and growth.

The findings open up new avenues for understanding the cause and possible prevention of cancer, the National Cancer Institute said Monday.

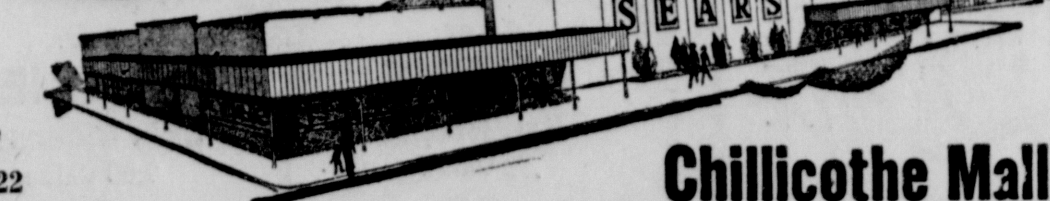

RNA and DNA are cellular nucleic acids considered controlling factors in life. Previous research indicated that RNA acted only as a secondary force, and at the signal of DNA in promoting growth, including cancer.

The cancer institute said three teams of scientists working separately found that certain viruses with an RNA core contain an enzyme or catalyst that reverses the usual pattern of genetic information-channeling, making RNA the controlling factor.

While viruses long have been suspected as causes of some forms of cancer, none has been named the definite cause.

HEAD START FOR ZOO — Approximately 200 children who participate in the summer Head Start and Day Care program under the supervision of Pickaway County Community Action boarded buses today for a trip to the Columbus Zoo.

House Panel OKs Import Quotas; Will Boost Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee has approved import quotas which could force American consumers to pay as much as 30 per cent more for shoes and shirts.

The action is a sharp break with the 37-year-old United States policy of freer foreign trade and reflects increasing House sentiment for protection of domestic producers.

The committee quotas, announced Tuesday night, are given an excellent chance of being ratified by Congress, despite evidence of consumer resistance.

A majority of House members are sponsoring legislation for limiting imports of textile products and shoes. In the past, the House has been the pitfall of quota legislation twice voted by the Senate.

The committee heard testimony that the consumer price of shirts, raincoats and shoes produced abroad is 15 to 30 per cent lower than the price of such items manufactured in the United States.

The Ways and Means decision still must be translated into an omnibus trade bill, subject to approval of both houses.

Congress is reacting to reports of steeply rising imports and to irritation at continuing non-tariff restrictions against U.S. goods in the European Common Market and in Japan, a major source of textiles.

The final straw was the breakdown of talks with Japan on voluntary restrictions—a failure which came just as the Ways and Means Committee was shaping trade legislation. It was at this point that the Nixon administration reluctantly dropped its opposition to textile quotas.

Preliminary figures indicated wool quotas would not result in a reduction in current import levels. Neither would cotton imports which are covered by a voluntary agreement. The committee proposal excludes silk—considered noncompetitive—and manmade fibers not made into yarn.

No figures on shoe imports have been released.

Major portions of the committee proposal would base quotas on textiles and textile products on the average of imports in 1967 through 1969. The formula could be modified later to give imports a share in any increase in domestic consumption.

The quota on manmade textiles—the major import item—would mean a cutback from about 2.3 billion square yards, the current annual import rate, to about 1.4 billion square yards.

O-I Announces Sales, Earnings

TOLEDO, — Owens-Illinois, Inc., sales and earnings for the first six months of 1970 were $668,573,000 and $31,833,000 respectively, compared to $633,063,000 and $34,730,000 during the first half of 1969, Raymon H. Mulford, chairman, and Edwin D. Dodd, president, announced today.

Sales for the period set a new first half record for Owens-Illinois, surpassing by 5.6 per cent the previous all-time high set in 1969 when sales and earnings were the highest of any first six months period in Owens-Illinois history, Mulford and Dodd said.

After preferred and preference dividend requirements, earnings were $1.85 per common share, compared to the record $2.03 per common share in 1969.

The report quoted one of Thompson's gunners, Lawrence Colburn, as saying the pilot told the gunners to shoot any GIs interfering with the rescue attempt but didn't mean it.

The committee said the "cover up" of the My Lai allegations cannot be solely blamed on Koster's American Division. The staff of the senior U.S. province adviser, James May and senior advisers to the South Vietnamese division also were receiving reports that should have gone to Saigon, the subcommittee said.

May told the subcommittee he never heard the allegations, while Koster testified he did not report to headquarters in Saigon because he believed the field investigation showed "his troops were not at fault."

That was the finding of a five-page report, found in a sergeant's desk drawer, by Col. Oran K. Henderson, 11th Brigade commander, the subcommittee said.

It said "there is not a shred of evidence" other than the statements of Koster and Henderson, that Lt. Col. Frank Barker, the task force commander who was later killed, conducted a subsequent investigation into allegations that more than 20 Vietnamese civilians had been killed.

City School Board Sets Policy For Participation In Athletics

A new policy determining athletic eligibility was approved Tuesday evening at the regular meeting of the Circleville Board of Education.

The new policy was passed following much consideration by the board. Under the new ruling, for a student to be eligible to practice or participate in a game, he must have attended school the entire day, unless sent by school officials or coach to a doctor to check out an injury or another reason found acceptable to school authorities.

If a player is under suspension from school, or is truant from school and served with warning papers or taken to court, he is automatically removed from the squad for a continued period of 40 days. Members provided that a suspension occurring near the end of the school year would continue into the next school year. At the conclusion of the 40-day period the coach of the sport in season at that time will determine whether or not the student is to report for athletic participation.

A $1,977,062 budget for the Circleville City Schools received board approval during the session.

THE projected 1971 budget calls for expenditures totaling $6,058,222 for administration; $1,327,900 to instruction, covering teachers' salaries; $8,250 to coordinate activities; $12,000 for library materials; $41,600 for pupil transportation and $4,400 for playground upkeep and repair. Other auxiliary agencies received an allotment of $266,880. This fund includes salaries for teacher and library aides, study hall monitors, visiting lecturers, a activity funds, gymnasium equipment, insurance and other costs. $170,450 was approved for the operation of the school plant, $61,500 for its maintenance and $17,500 for capital outlay.

The transfer of $6,000 was projected for the coming year for transfer to the cafeteria fund. School officials chose to make up the annual loss on cafeteria lunches by appropriating monies from the general fund rather than raise the cost of school lunches.

Members of the Board of Education accepted resignations from Cheryl Karr and Liston Halley, junior high social studies and English teachers. Named as their replacements were Perry Ogden and Mrs. Alma Litten. Ogden will teach social studies and health and serve as assistant high school basketball coach and junior high track coach. Mrs. Litten, a recent graduate of Mt. St. Mary College in New York, will take over Halley's position.

With the employment of three other teachers — Mrs. Eileen Osborn, an experienced elementary teacher; Carol List, part time elementary at Atwater if enrollment exceeds 35 students per classroom and Karen Bowers, 8th grade science and SOS adviser — only two more vacancies are left to be filled. William Rosengarten was approved as Key Club adviser.

Non-certificated employees submitting their resignations were Gordon Swackhammer and George Williams, custodians. Mary Wickline was employed by the board as part time secretary at Atwater. LeaAnn Cave was transferred from her duties as secretary at Atwater to serve as part-time aide to the clerk. She will continue in her work in the elementary supervisor's office. Charles Lane was hired to replace Swackhammer as custodian of the junior high physical education building.

Superintendent Fritz Jacobs was granted permission to proceed with the selection of staff for the Aid to Dependent Children programs utilized in the school system.

THE city board suggested a new contract with the City Health Department at the rate of $1700 per year, an increase of $200 over the previous one. This money pays for the services of the city health nurse two days a week to the city schools. The board voluntarily increased the contract, stating increased costs of operation and the possibility of a raise in salary for members of the health department working with the schools.

Two areas of the junior high building will have a new look with the completion of projects approved during last night's session. The home economics department will undergo the most remodeling with the installation of three double cast iron sinks in the kitchen area, the purchase of 14 new sewing machines and combined cutting tables, remodeling of closets in
